FEDERALS RETREAT BEFORE THE REBELS

Rebels Still Hold Juarez and Federal Troops Fall Back and Prevent Bloody Engagement.

WILSON SAYS HUERTA REGIME CRUMBLING

Mexican Newspapers Are in Iron Grasp of Wily Mexican Ruler Who Uses Them for Purpose of Deceiving the People in Order to Help His Cause.

By Associated Press

El Paso, Texas, November 24.—So far as known in Juarez there has been no fighting between the Federals and Rebels south of Juarez. The Rebels were stretched across the country from east to west for 13 or 14 miles south of Juarez last night, while the commander, Gen. Francisco Villa was in Juarez arranging to send supplies to them.

The Federals, according to Villa, retreated from a point 18 miles south of Juarez which they had reached in their advance, when they saw the Rebels marching out. Villa immediately camped and does not know what became of the Federals, but says if they do not attack them soon, he will press south after them. His objective point is Chihuahua City. He declares that he intends to hold Juarez or die fighting.

WILSON THINKS HUERTA'S DAYS ARE NUMBERED

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—That Pres. Wilson believes that the Huerta government slowly is crumbling, was reiterated today at the White House. Discussing the situation generally the President pointed out that the local press in Mexico City could print uncontradicted, baseless statements as to the future intentions of the United States, as evidence of the ability of the Huerta Government to spread any impression it pleased through the Mexican press. The President referred incidentally to optimistic predictions during the last few days in Mexican newspapers that recognition of the Huerta Government by the United States was forthcoming. The Washington Government, it is known, is irrevocably determined under no circumstances to recognize Huerta.

There were no new developments today in the situation generally, ac-

TWO MORE U. S. ARMY AVIATORS ADDED TO LIST OF FATALITIES

By Associated Press.

San Diego, Cal., November 24.—Lieutenants H. M. Kelly and E. L. Ellington, 1st Division Army Aviation Corps, were killed today in a fall of about 80 feet in an aeroplane. The accident occurred across the bay from San Diego on the grounds of the Army School on North Island.

Louisville, Ky., November 24.—Lieutenant Hugh M. Kelly, killed in an aeroplane accident today was a native of Kentucky. He has been commandant at the State university. He was a son of Col. R. M. Kelly who cording to the White House officials, but added interest was developed in the President's forthcoming annual message, which he will read to Congress, when it became known that among the subjects to be discussed will be included a statement giving the status of the Mexican situation. The President indicated that he would keep his message abreast of developments in Mexico so that his presentation of events would be up to the day of delivery. Mr. Wilson expressed satisfaction today over the attitude of foreign governments, and indicated it was wholly friendly and showed a desire to co-operate with the United States.

NO MORE TANGO EDICT OBSERVED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Germany, November 24.—Emperor William's edict forbidding German army and navy officers to dance the Tango and other steps while in uniform has been taken seriously here and the same rule has been introduced throughout the diplomatic circles. A change was made today in the program for the dance to be held after the Thanksgiving dinner of the American colony. This was because it was learned that any member of the diplomatic corps present would be forced to withdraw should the Tango be danced.

GOING UP AFTER PRICE OF EGGS

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—Agents of the Department of Justice began an investigation of the alleged combination of cold storage concerns which Attorney General McReynolds says, may be responsible for the high price of eggs and other products. If a combination is discovered, criminal prosecution may result.

WAS INTOXICATED HAD FULL BOTTLES

John Geller, hailing from Dayton and accompanied by one full quart of whiskey and one pint, made his appearance on the streets Saturday night, seeing double and trying his best to walk straight. He had come in on the evening train from Dayton intending to spend over Sunday here. He was placed in the county jail to await until he was sober before paying the usual $5 and costs for his offense.

was well known for many years as the editor of the Louisville Commercial.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—The deaths of Lieutenants Kelly and Ellington today make a total of 15 fatalities from aviation in government service, 12 in the army and 3 in the navy and 2 army instructors who were civilians, since experiments first began at Fort Myer in 1908. Seven have met death this year. In aviation accidents of all kinds the world over, 368 persons have been killed since 1908. This year numbering 197.

FINAL TOUCHES AT WHITE HOUSE

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Finishing touches on arrangements for the White House wedding were in evidence in the historic East Room today and a rehearsal of the ceremony late in the afternoon completed all plans for tomorrow's program when Jessie Wilson, the President's second daughter will become the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre.

Gifts and guests continued to arrive during the day. While the number of guests will be much smaller than at the wedding of Alice Roosevelt and Nick Longworth, a distinguished company has been invited and the ceremony tomorrow promises to be a brilliant affair.

DYNAMITE FOUND ALONG HIGHWAY

By Associated Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 24.—That 120 sticks of dynamite have been collected along Grant Boulevard, a fashionable east side drive, during the past three weeks, was made known today by the police. The dynamite had been scattered along the road systematically, but none of it had exploded. A suspect was arrested today.

SIX ARE KILLED MANY INJURED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Germany, Nov. 24.—Six men were killed and 2 others fatally injured when a train crashed into a group of workmen just outside of Berlin this morning. The train had not been signaled and its approach was hidden by a cloud of smoke.

TREE SHIPPED TO OHIO BY PARCEL POST.

Franklin, Pa., Nov. 24.—A tree was shipped from Franklin by parcel post. It was collected by Albert Bunnell, a rural carrier, for a farmer who desired to send it to a friend in Ohio. The branches had been bound closely to the trunk of the tree with twine and the girth was therefore only four inches. The tree was eight feet long, and Bunnell would not accept it until he had sawed it off to keep the parcel within the limitation.

WANTS PARCEL LIMIT FIXED AT 50 POUNDS

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—Postmaster General Burleson has recommended to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the maximum weight of parcels post packages be increased from 20 to 50 lbs. to all distances. The proposed changes would not affect existing parcels post rates. The lower rates will continue to apply only to matter transported within the first and second zones.

GALE SWEEPS LAKE

By Associated Press.

Salt Ste. Marie, Ontario, November 24.—Wireless messages received here today from lake boats reported that a heavy northwest gale with snow was blowing on Lake Superior. The Alberta and Huronic reported that with 50 other vessels they were sheltering in White Fish bay.

LICENSE LAW IS IGNORED

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 24.—15 of the 470 saloonkeepers rejected by the Liquor License Commissions opened their places today in defiance of the law and were cited to appear by the police in municipal court tomorrow.

Most of those cited were among the saloonkeepers who were originally granted licenses but were later rejected. There are 57 saloonkeepers in this list. No disorders were reported by the police.

FEW SALOONISTS DISREGARD LAW

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, November 24.—According to reports received by Governor Cox and members of the State Liquor License Commission today, with but few exceptions in Cincinnati and Cleveland the saloonkeepers who were refused licenses kept their places of business closed. Governor Cox does not anticipate any trouble in the enforcement of the law.

ONE SALOONIST IGNORES THE LAW

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 24.—Only one Cleveland saloonkeeper of the 900 refused licenses here under the new law opened his place of business today. He is C. W. Horvel, and was arrested.

SPRINGFIELD AFTER WASHINGTON'S TRADE

Jeffersonville Man Who Keeps Close Eye on Affairs Issues Warning to Local Merchants.

SPRINGFIELD MERCHANTS PLAN TO RUN EXCURSIONS.

Strenuous Efforts to be Made to Pull Trade Springfieldward and Scores Who Have Long Traded in Washington May Succumb to Lures Which Springfield Business Men Plan for Capturing Trade.

"Unless Washington merchants unite in an effort to counteract the advantages just obtained by Springfield merchants as a result of the installation of the Baker motor bus between Jeffersonville and South Charleston, they are going to lose thousands of dollars worth of trade annually," said a Jeffersonville man who has studied the situation and who is certain that he has the situation summed up correctly.

It seems that the Springfield merchants are not content with having the advantage of a motor-bus service in addition to that of the D. T. & I., but are now planning to run excursions from Jeffersonville, paying the railroad fare of all citizens from Jeffersonville, Sedalia, South Solon and the surrounding towns, and they expect to turn several hundred persons into Springfield to do their shopping and these same persons have been shopping in this city for years.

Other plans of a far-reaching nature have been worked out by the Merchant's Association of Springfield, in an effort to take advantage of every opportunity to extend the boundary line of their shopping district southward.

It is claimed that local business men pronounce Springfield merchants among their hard competitors, but have always been successful in keeping a large portion of the trade in the above neighborhood, pouring in to this city, the people realizing the splendid shopping advantages of Washington.

With the efforts of the Springfield business men centered on pulling trade to that city, some form of counteracting the influence brought to bear will probably be formulated by local merchants.

A motor bus between Jeffersonville, coming to this city by way of Bloomington, is one of the plans suggested as a solution to the problem. However, it is claimed, Mr. Baker is not inclined to extend the service to this city.

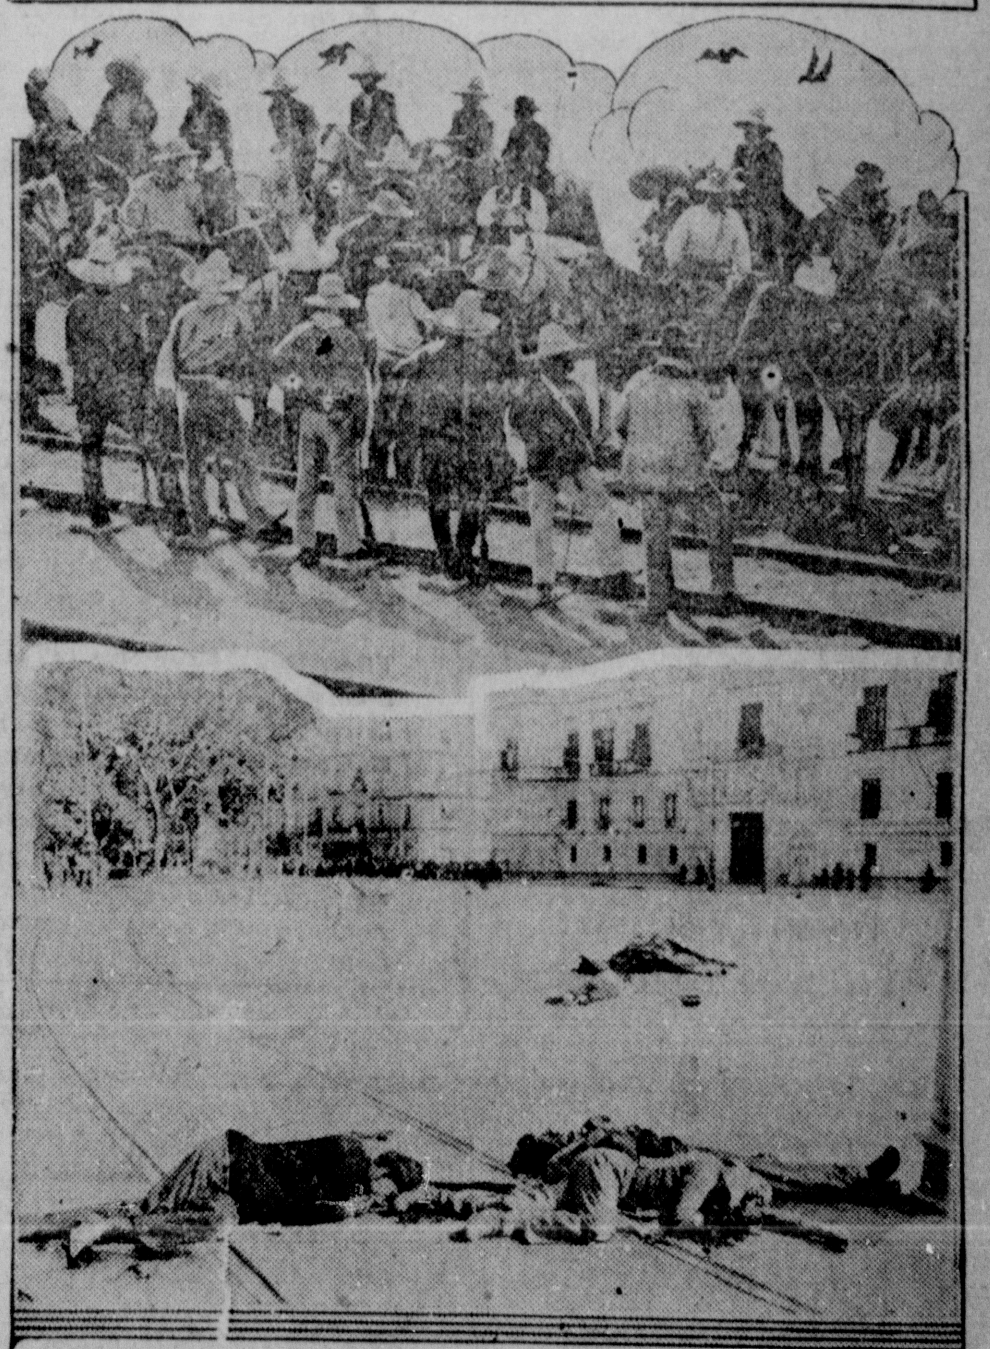

PEARL THIEVES ARE SENTENCED

By Associated Press.

London, England, November 24.—Sentence was pronounced today on four prisoners charged with stealing and receiving the pearl necklace valued at $650,000 which disappeared during transit by registered mail from Paris to London, but which was afterwards found lying on a sidewalk in London with only one or two pearls missing. The accused were arrested September 2nd, while trying to sell the pearls.

Two of the prisoners were condemned to seven years penal servitude each, one to five years and the other to 18 months hard labor.

Pictorial Reasons For Wilson's Stand on Mexican Question

Photos copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

BOTH of these pictures show why President Wilson refused to recognize Huerta as provisional president of Mexico. They are not pleasant pictures, but they are real ones. One shows some of the Mexicans who were shot dead in front of the national palace during the disturbances which accompanied the defeat of the federal forces under Madero and Madero's murder. Huerta had the army with him, and they shot to kill. The other picture shows a band of rebels of the type that kept things stirred up and necessitated President Wilson's notice to Americans in Mexico to flee from the much disturbed country.

MYSTIC NUMBER THIRTEEN FIGURES IN WILSON WEDDING

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The mystic number 13—to some an evil superstition but to President Wilson an omen of good luck—plays a prominent part in tomorrow's wedding at the White House. Not by design but by a curious coincidence the bridal party numbers exactly twelve so that when the ushers and attendant maids stand with the bride and groom in front of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Princeton, N. J., there will be just thirteen on the raised platform banked with flowers in the historic East Room.

Both the names "Jessie W. Wilson" and "Francis B. Sayre" contain exactly thirteen letters each, as does the name of the President, "Woodrow Wilson."

But the thirteen that distinguishes Miss Wilson at this particular time, is that she will be the thirteenth White House bride.

Here is a list of the twelve weddings which have been held in the White House during its century of existence:

Lucy Payne, widow of a nephew of George Washington, and sister-in-law of President Madison, and Justice Todd of the Supreme Court, March 11, 1811.

Anna Todd of Philadelphia, cousin of Mrs. Madison, wife of the President, and Representative Edward B. Jackson, a great-uncle of "Stonewall" Jackson, -- 2.

Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, and Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur of New York, 1820.

Mary Hellen, niece of Mrs. Adams, and John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams, February 20, 1828.

Della Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter of one of President Andrew Jackson's famous "kitchen cabinet," and Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot, secretary of the French legation, 1829.

Emily Martin, niece of President Jackson, and Lewis Donaldson, a grandson of Jefferson, 1831.

Mary Easton of Tennessee, niece of President Jackson, and Lucien B. Polk, a relative of President Polk, 1847.

Elizabeth Tyler, third daughter of President Tyler, and William Waller of Williamsburg, Va., January 31, 1842.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Algernon C. F. Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, and Gen. Russell Hastings, formerly lieutenant-colonel of the 23d Regiment of Ohio Volunteers, June 19, 1878.

Francis Folsom, the President's ward, and President Grover Cleveland, June 2, 1886.

Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Representative Nicholas Longworth, February 17, 1906.

OHIO STATE BANQUET

The annual Ohio State Banquet will be held Friday evening Nov. 28. This is a banquet which is held in every county in the state and is promoted by the Alumni Association. It is a place where all the alumni and both ex-students and present students of Ohio State University have a chance to get together and spend an enjoyable evening discussing old times and also to learn some of the things that are going on at the University at the present time.

There is a committee of Fayette county students, who are attending Ohio State University, working out an excellent program for the banquet. They have been able to secure Professor Price, Dean of the College of Agriculture to deliver an address at the banquet. Prof. Price, besides being Dean, is also a member of the State Agriculture Commission, which is a $5,000.00 position. Dean Price spent the year 1911 and 1912 in the Old Country, studying the foreign Credit System, and it is certain he will deliver one of the best addresses ever given at an Ohio State banquet, and you cannot afford to miss it.

This is going to be the best banquet ever given. The Fayette county banquet has ranked second and third as to success and size in previous years and they are going to try and go to the top notch this year. Every Ohio State Alumni should show his or her loyalty and come out to this banquet. Bring your wives and husbands and friends and get them interested in Ohio State.

It has not as yet been definitely decided as to where the banquet will be held but it will be announced in a later edition. It will also be announced later as to whom you are to report whether you can be present or not so an estimate can be made of number of plates to prepare. Be sure and come.

GUESTS ARRIVING AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 24.—This evening the relatives of Francis B. Sayre and Miss Jessie Wilson will meet together at a dinner arranged by the president and Mrs. Wilson in the White House, while the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party will be dining and dancing on board the yacht Mayflower.

The platform upon which the bridal party will stand has been erected just under the great east window of the east room of the White House, known as the bridal window. It was under this same window that Nellie Grant plighted her faith to Algernon Sartoris of London and that Alice Roosevelt became Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

The wedding procession will consist of the four ushers, who will walk two and two ahead of Miss Margaret Wilson, the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will walk behind Miss Wilson and the bride-to-be, on the arm of her father, will come the last in line.

As to the ceremony, which will take place at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow, the groom, with his best man and the officiating clergymen, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach and the Rev. John Nevin Sayre, assistant, will await the coming of the procession at the dais at the westward side of the great east room.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who will be the best man, arrived here today with Mrs. Grenfell, Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, Miss Adeline M. Scott of Princeton and Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, bridesmaids, also arrived during the day.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Robert H. Sayre of Bethlehem, Pa., was among the day's arrivals. She was accompanied by her other son, the Rev. John Nevin Sayre, who es-

SALOON QUESTION

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 24.—All the saloons, with a few exceptions, which had received licenses closed yesterday. Those places which did not receive licenses were open as usual, but this was tolerated by the police. Many of the saloons sold all their stock during the course of the day and made no effort to replenish it. The cases were not enough to supply the demand of the thirsty, and many pilgrimages were made to towns across the river in Kentucky, which do not observe Sunday closing rules.

FEDERAL ARMY IS OVERAWED

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 24.—With a battle line extending for 12 miles from Bauche, on the west, to Lamesa, on the east, less than 15 miles south of and below Juarez, Pancho Villa's rebel army has overawed and driven back the federal army which Saturday was menacing Juarez.

This is the substance of a report brought to Juarez by Villa himself, who with a bodyguard of 40 men returned from the front to arrange for sending additional supplies to his men. A federal troop train arrived at Tierra Blanca, but the federals were driven back before a general engagement took place, and Villa says the entire federal force is in full retreat. Tierra Blanca is only 18 miles from Juarez.

Panic-stricken by the sight of the vanguard of the rebel army, Villa declares the federal army advancing to attack Juarez retreated in haste. He says: "The federals hastily backed their trains southward from the neighborhood of Tierra Blanca. We do not know how far they went, but think they did not stop before reaching Samalayuca."

Samalayuca is 32 miles south of Juarez, on the Mexican Central railroad, where the first fight occurred Saturday.

Federals Retreat.

The principal fighting that has featured the northward advance of the federals took place near Samalayuca when a rebel scouting party of 100 men under Rodolfo Fierro moved to attack a party of federal soldiers who had detained there.

According to Fierro, the Huerta troops had unloaded two cannon from the train, which was the leading one in the group of eight which are carrying the Huerta soldiers northward. "They turned their cannon on us when we were several miles away," says Fierro, who accompanied Villa to Juarez. "We had no artillery, but kept moving toward them. When we got within a mile of the train the federals reloaded their artillery and backed down the track. No member of my command was killed or wounded by the firing. Later they advanced toward Juarez and got to Tierra Blanca, when, Villa says, they saw his army coming out of Juarez and again retreated."

Villa encamped his army and is waiting for the federals to approach again. If they don't come, he says he will go after them in a few days. He does not mean to bring his army back to Juarez unless driven in by the federals, he declared. Villa says he thinks the federal army numbers 4,000 men; although federal agents here claim it numbers 9,500. The rebels have between 5,000 and 6,000 men.

OPPOSE REFORM

Springfield, O., Nov. 24.—The Clark County Teachers' association adopted resolutions opposing the administration measures proposed for the reform of the public school system in Ohio as outlined for presentation to the legislature at its next session. Teachers said the proposed measures would have the effect of making the public school system of Ohio a huge political machine, manipulated from the statehouse.

A Beautiful Belief

The warm weather—so unusual for this time of year—which prevailed during all of last week despite the fact that the weather bureau dutifully posted up each day the "rain and colder tomorrow" bulletin, proved to have a wonderfully stimulating effect on the old-timers.

Anything decidedly out of the ordinary run, in the weather line, especially, is cause sufficient for the believers in signs to busy themselves handing out prophecy and proof.

It is not, therefore, entirely unexpected that the men who read nature's moods and intuitions from the trees and the flowers, and in the habits and work of the birds and the animals, come forth, some of them to tell us that the signs all point to a mild open winter, and some of them with just as much earnestness and with the same quality and quantity of proof, that the signs all point to a long, cold winter.

Of course each one of these close observers, with years' of experience, will put in a saving clause to the effect that there may be "spells" of weather different from the kind predicted.

These comprehensive saving clauses are a splendid method by which the prophet can save his own reputation and by which he may retain his belief himself.

These men who are so fortunately situated that they can afford to watch nature's wild creatures and watch the trees and the flowers with that singleness of purpose and that intensity of faith, that after while they really believe they have talked with nature and have been told what is in store for mankind, are fortunate indeed.

Of course the practical, hard working man, busy day in and day out, chasing the round, rolling dollar, takes no stock in such "rubbish". But after all, does the busy dollar chasing man know there is no real foundation for the prophecy—he has never had time to study nature closely—has never had the opportunity, as has his more fortunate brother, to watch closely, for years, until he can imagine, at least, that nature is talking to him.

What a delightful state that must be, even if there is nothing real in it at all, to believe that one is on speaking terms with nature? How much company one would have and how many great secrets one could get and how happy one would be in that belief.

And there are many in each community who firmly believe all of that and are happy in the belief.

Who can say and successfully prove that such a belief is not well founded?

It requires only something out of the ordinary to make these students of nature break their silence and tell their fellow men what nature has confided to them.

Rather, it requires only something out of the ordinary to make the practical man listen to those silent men who study nature closely. The silent men are willing to talk of their beliefs and experiences, but the world is too busy to listen to them until the unusual attracts their attention.

Good and Faithful Servant

Five members of that tribunal which all Americans believe to be the most dignified body of men in the world—the Supreme Court of the United States—Saturday, crowded into a small and humble little home in the less pretentious portion of Washington, D. C., and stood with bowed heads during the funeral of Archie Lewis.

Who was Archie Lewis to whose memory these distinguished men so signally paid respect?

He was the negro messenger of the court—the man who had taken care of the robes worn by the judges during the sessions of the court ever since their elevation to office.

Before Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes had started to school, Lewis was the messenger of the Supreme court. Before three members of that great tribunal—Justice Day, Justice Devanter and Justice Lamar—were born, Lewis was faithfully discharging the duties of the position to which he had been called.

The incident furnishes a fitting tribute to worth. A humble position—court messenger—but so faithfully did Lewis discharge the duties of the small trust imposed upon him that his very constancy to duty, small though that duty was, made him great.

That which he was called upon to do, Lewis did well—could any man do more?

Could a stronger acknowledgment of that fact and a more splendid testimonial of respect to the memory of any man have been given?

Was ever a more just decree entered by these great jurists than that one which closed the honorable career of a faithful negro servant? Could those words with which every man hopes the final chapter of his life may be concluded, "Well done thou good and faithful servant" ever have been more effectively spoken than they were when five Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States entered the humble cottage which the faithful negro messenger had called his home on earth and stood reverently while the gates of eternity were closing.

You are the one in the sleeper,
Artist, perhaps, who can paint;
Brushing your colors on canvas,
Picturing devil and saint.

He is the boss of the section,
Serving for the safety of you.
Think you his thought never wanders
Higher than hand-car and crew?

Oh, there are visions forever!
Mind has been made of their gleams.
Brushes or grammar may fail us,
Never the harvest of dreams.

He loves a cottage with children.
He has a heart in the stars,
Fleeing in startled confusion,
Over the roofs of the cars.

Midst the rough blows of the sledges,
Timed by the whistle of breath,
Rises his darling, dim of wonder,
Searching the secret of death.

Staunchly his labor lies under;
Rushes your train out of sight;
Earth with us all passes softly
Into the dusk of the night.

UNCONSCIOUS AT POST

Metuchen, N. J., Nov. 24.—William C. Carr, 60, engineer of the express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, was found unconscious in his cab with a hand on the airbrake lever when the train unexpectedly stopped near Millstone Junction. He had been terribly scalded by steam from a broken boiler pipe, and just before losing consciousness he had shut the throttle, applied the brakes and made sure that the train would run without a guiding hand. Carr's condition is serious.

How Her Little Girl Was Restored To Health.

Mrs. Chas. Schrieffer of 139 Himrod St., Brooklyn, N. Y. says: "My little girl was frail, sickly and all run down after having had the grippe. I was advised to give her Vinol and after the first bottle noticed an improvement. She has taken four bottles and has picked up rapidly, having gained six pounds in three weeks."

The reason Vinol builds up weak, ailing children so quickly is because it contains in a delicious combination the two most world famous tonics—i. e., the strength creating, body building elements of cod liver oil, with all the useless grease eliminated, and tonic iron for the blood added. Here permanent exhibits would be preserved and books and periodicals; assembly auditoriums be established for use with the library by colleges, schools and the general public. The estimated cost of the project is from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 with several million dollars a year for maintenance expenses.

Eighty-four tons of lead, to be used in the keel of the Vanderbilt syndicate's 75-foot sloop for the America's cup defence trials next season, has just been landed at Bristol, Rhode Island, and preparations for actual construction on the boat are going forward rapidly.

Export of toys from the United States amounts to less than one million dollars, while imports totaled over $20,000,000, of which dolls alone form about one-fourth of the total value. Germany is by far our largest source of supply, in fact the largest source of world's supply. England is next, then Japan, then France.

It cost the Democratic committee in New York City more than $200,000 to conduct its unsuccessful mayoralty campaign, according to the statement of election receipts and expenditures filed with the Secretary of state of New York.

Hartman Theater

Attractions Week of December First
"The Master Mind," the play in which Edmund Breese will be seen at the Hartman Theater, Columbus, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 4-5-6th, with mainee on the 6th, is said to be one of intense interest to all classes of theatergoers. The fact that a master criminal, aided by his subjects, can out-general a district attorney with all the resources of the law at his command, is the theme upon which the four acts of the play are based. In revealing the plot the author has introduced a pretty love story, which is worked out with a charm of manner furnishing many delightful and tender scenes.

Mr. Breese as Andrew—the Master Mind—is given many opportunities to display his wonderful ability as a character actor. He will be supported by an excellent cast.

The play is said to be a genuine thriller and holds the attention of the audience from beginning to end. Mr. Breese, who has been seen here many times is one of the real artists on the American stage and "The Master Mind" is adding another to his long list of success delineations.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. F. L. Willis suffered greatly from asthma and bronchitis. He writes: "I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It entirely removed those choking sensations, and never failed to produce an easy and comfortable condition of the throat and lungs." Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

ECONOMY

BY THE AD WRITER OF THE BUCKEYE STATE BUILDING AND LOAN COMPANY, RANKIN BUILDING, 22 W. GAY ST., COLUMBUS, O.

Fifth. Economy provides for education. Education assists in making your way through life. As a rule it increases one's earning power. The most learned professional men obtain large fees. A number of them deposit their money with The Buckeye and get five per cent interest thereon. So should others. Assets $6,700,000. Call or write for booklet.

Views of Others

THE MODERN WAY.

Not long ago a 17-year old boy stole fourteen hundred dollars and was about to sail for England when he was arrested. He confessed that when he had that much money in his hands the temptation was too great for him to withstand.

"I've been crazy about going to Oxford University," he said. His room was searched and found to contain volumes of poetry, and a copy of "Tom Brown at Oxford." His mother said he had been bitterly disappointed when they had to take him out of high school at the end of the second year, and put him to work.

The case has appealed to the court officials and to the firm from which he stole the money. "If all this is true," said the vice president of the company, "if the boy wants a higher education and has the mental qualifications, I'll see that he gets it."

That is something like it. In most cases the boy would be sent to prison or to a reformatory for "punishment." If it had been a smaller sum of money, he possibly would have been offered "mercy" and would be driven to some other city, where his own neighbors would not see him and feel responsible for him.

The case of this boy is a forecast of what may happen in the future. Young people who go wrong will not be disgraced for life. The court will exercise discrimination and common sense. Such an offender will be placed under the care of the court, and given every chance to become an honest, respectable citizen.

There are courts exercising these human functions now. There will be more of them as time goes on, and as we grow more civilized. But there are still a few of the old precedent-loving, case-hardened judges left. What we should do is to try to get human beings, with human sympathies on our benches in every case. We must get rid of the legal automatons who obstruct justice.—Dayton News.

THANKSGIVING.

By MARIAN DOUGLAS.
I counted up my little store.
Why was to others given more?
Why were their lips with honey fed
While mine had labor's hard earned bread?
A weary, hopeless task seemed living.
I could not bring to God thanksgiving.
There came a poor man to my door.
I shared with him my scanty store.
When, lo, my sense of want had flown
And rarest riches were my own!
So sweet is love's divided bread
I seemed with heaven's own manna fed.
What blessed joy there was in living!
I brought to God my glad thanksgiving.
—Harper's Bazar.

PROBE LIVING COST

Washington, Nov. 24.—An inquiry into the high cost of living is being talked of by Democratic leaders in congress. Unless a special commission is named for the purpose the house committee on the judiciary, which is about to begin an inquiry into the operations of corporations, will pay special attention to living costs. It is understood that the commissioner of corporations, who has announced that he will ask congress to appropriate $600,000 to enable him to make an investigation of the practices of so-called trusts, also will touch upon the subject of the cost of living. Democrats charge that over-capitalization is a large factor in the increased cost of living.

TY COBB LEADS

Chicago, Nov. 24.—According to the American league official batting averages Ty Cobb, for the third consecutive season, leads all American league batters. Cobb has 17 points over Joe Jackson of Cleveland, who hit .373. Speaker ranks third and Collins fourth. Lajoie is in sixth place. Baker is the leading home run slugger, with 12.

WILL CANDLE ALL EGGS IN ORDER TO COMPLY WITH LAW

Local Grocers Installing Candling Apparatus in Compliance With Instructions from the State Dairy and Food Department—High Price Causes a Marked Decline in Number of Eggs Retailed.

The work of candling eggs will soon be inaugurated in this city by many of the grocers in order to comply with the law regulating the sale of eggs.

A State Dairy & Food Inspector, who has been in the city within the past few days, has informed the grocers that candling must be done or they will be liable to arrest if any bad eggs leave their stores.

And the inspector also stated that farmers who bring eggs to the grocers must be careful of the eggs offered, as the law makes it an offense for a farmer or anyone else to even offer for sale eggs that are stale.

"If a farmer has the grocer to candle the eggs in search of the bad ones, and takes back the bad eggs, he is liable to arrest and fine for having offered bad eggs. If a dealer guarantees all eggs sold, and will replace any stale eggs discovered by the customer, he can be prosecuted. No guarantee goes. Eggs must be candled." This is the way the inspector has handed out the law.

"I guess we will have to install a candling apparatus and candle all eggs we buy and all we sell," said one dealer Monday morning. He also stated that he had ordered a candler and would have it in use within a short time.

With eggs at 42 cents per dozen and prospects of going still higher, both the dealer and consumer want nothing but good eggs.

The price of eggs has resulted in a very marked decrease in the number consumed, according to local grocers, and it is expected that further increase in price will witness still fewer eggs used.

DELAY MAY RESULT IN HEARING CASES

Motions to quash the indictment in the cases of the State of Ohio against Delbert Payne for the murder of George W. Duffee, and the State of Ohio against Leo Brandon, for burglary of an inhabited dwelling in the night season, were heard Saturday by Judge Carpenter, and are now in the court's hands for consideration. As soon as the motions are disposed of and a judge can be had to try the cases, they will be assigned for trial.

Judge Carpenter is holding court this term at London (leaving Fayette without a court at present) the cases will probably be assigned to another judge as soon as one can be obtained.

It is not unusual that in crimes of the character of these that some delay is necessary and unavoidable. Special statutes must be observed in the cases and a special jury drawn and served on the defendant, at least 15 days before trial.

The Tudor and Brandon cases may be assigned for trial some time in December, but the Payne case in all probability cannot be tried on account of the special statutes governing the same and the difficulty encountered in securing a judge to try the same until some time in January next.

ARM CRUSHED AT SNIDER'S BAKERY

Clarence Dyke, formerly employed in the C. D. Snider bakery in this city, but who has been with Mr. Snider since his removal to Xenia, suffered the misfortune of having his right arm crushed in a horrible manner Sunday afternoon while at work in the Snider Bakery in Xenia.

His arm became fast in some of the machinery and was so badly crushed that it was at first believed that it would be necessary to remove it at the elbow.

Latest reports state that it may not be necessary to remove the arm at all, as the injuries were not as bad as first believed.

Mr. Dyke's friends in this city will regret to hear of his misfortune, as the injuries are liable to result in permanent inability to use the right hand and arm to advantage.

WON BY ONE AND EVERYONE DID IT

"Next time I run for office I am going to get out and hustle," said a man Saturday, who had run for a township office and was elected by one vote.

"You see it was this way," he explained, "I did not care for the office and did not solicit any assistance, but since the election every man who wants a favor doesn't fail to remind me that it was his vote that elected me. So far some 20 fellows have thus informed me and of course I can't deny the truth of their assertion."

RAPID RISE IN RAILROAD OFFICE

It will be highly gratifying to a host of Washington friends to learn that Mr. Robert Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cullen, has been promoted to the position of assistant cashier of the D. T. & I. in Springfield.

Promotion is all the more noteworthy as Mr. Cullen only entered the D. T. & I. service as chief clerk of the freight office a month ago, and is making good with unusual rapidity.

Mr. Cullen was home spending Sunday and receiving the congratulations of friends.

CHILDREN OF THE HOME BROUGHT TO SERVICES

Thirty-eight children were brought in from the Children's home Sunday morning to attend services at the Presbyterian church, the colored children going to the A. M. E. church. The children greatly enjoyed the ride to and fro in autos furnished by their owners and were much interested in the special Thanksgiving services. Supt. and Mrs. Tway accompanied them.

The Y. P. S. C. had arrangements in charge, Mr. Frank M. Fullerton, chairman of the Automobile committee.

DR. GEO. REICHEL GIVES VIVID INSIGHT INTO WHITE SLAVERY

Delivers Three Addresses Here Sunday, Including Address Before 700 Men at the Opera House, Where He Holds His Auditors Spell-Bound While Relating the Horrors of One of the Nation's Greatest Curses—Will Return in February to Address Meeting of Women.

Few lectures or addresses in recent years have created the deep impression and aroused those who have heard them, like the address given at the Empire Opera House Sunday afternoon, by Dr. Geo. V. Reichel, Ph. D., of the American Civic Reform Union, who was brought to this city under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Reichel appeared at the Baptist church in the morning and delivered an interesting address, and one of profound interest at the Christian church Sunday night.

Fully seven hundred men from 16 years of age to some of the oldest inhabitants in the city, thronged the Empire opera house to hear Dr. Reichel, and the profound silence of the large audience was mute evidence of the deep interest taken in the startling facts related by the speaker who more than once drew tears to many eyes as he related some touching incident in the terrible white slavery.

Dr. Reichel did not mince matters in dealing with the subject in hand, but spoke of conditions in connection with the white slavery curse, as they really exist, and some of his disclosures were of a nature that gave every one of his auditors a clearer insight into the awfulness of one of the greatest curses of modern times.

Dr. Reichel, owing to his work in aiding the efforts being made to put an end to white slavery, is a man who speaks with the knowledge of what he says is true, and many cases he mentioned brought the matter vividly before the seven hundred men who heard him.

Mr. James Whelpley furnished several piano numbers for the meeting, and Mr. Walter Springer very beautifully sang "The Waters of Babylon".

Dr. Reichel will return to this city in January to address a meeting of women on the subject of white slavery.

He left Monday afternoon.

BOYCOTT ON EGGS

New York, Nov. 24.—The national executive committee of the Housewives' league, of which Mrs. Julian Heath is national president, has called a nation-wide boycott on eggs. Telegrams were sent to 300 heads of local organizations throughout the country asking co-operation in the boycott.

Liquor Board Enjoined.

Napoleon, O., Nov. 24.—Edward Monthaven of Deshler, a rejected saloonkeeper, enjoined the Henry county liquor board from issuing a license to F. W. Stune. Judge Bailey granted the temporary injunction. It is asserted Stune is a nonresident of Ohio and was not in business in May, 1912. Monthaven was in business for 12 years.

Liquor Sold at Auction.

Akron, O., Nov. 24. — Sixty Akron saloons were forced out of business by the new license law. Hundreds of dollars worth of wet goods were sold at public auction. It was bargain day for the men.

CARD OF THANKS.

Frank M. Fullerton, agent of the Insurance Company of North America.

I most sincerely thank you for your prompt and courteous treatment in the adjustment of the loss I sustained from fire at my barn, which occurred Saturday, November 22, 1913, at 1:15 p. m. You were on the ground and not only helped that brave, splendid fire-fighter, G. M. Paul, who had made a double quick run to the place, but you had the loss adjusted to my entire satisfaction within 9 minutes after the smoke cleared away. It was one of the most prompt settlements on record, and I assure you that in the future you shall carry all my insurance.

Moreover, I will recommend your agency to my friends as it is undoubtedly the best in the city. Your twenty-six years of labor, not alone for premium, but for the satisfaction of your clients, has won for you the well deserved trademark, "He will treat you right."

Thanking you again, I am gratefully yours,

FRANK M. FULLERTON.

A speed of 18 to 20 miles can be made by the car, and a top is made at every house if passengers are awaiting to board the car.

One old man was so delighted with riding on the car that he made a round trip "just for fun" and was so delighted that he will make another round trip soon.

Everyone along the route taken by the car is delighted with the service and Saturday was a gala day in South Solon, with flags and bunting flying and everything on the boom.

The car passes within a half mile of Bookwalter, and many persons go from the village, walking to the road intersection to await the appearance of the car.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rogers, Messrs. Howard and Roy Hegler motored to Springfield Sunday, the guests of Mr. Marion Gibson and family.

GREENFIELD TOO MUCH FOR LOCALS

In a very spirited game on the Greenfield gridiron Saturday afternoon, the Greenfield High school football aggregation defeated the local High school team, the score standing 6 to 7 in favor of the Greenfield team.

A large number of local fans accompanied the Washington High team and encouraged them with their applause. Both teams made a number of splendid plays, and the game was one of the most spirited of the season.

GREAT SLIDES STILL HAMPER CANAL WORK

Col. Goethals Files Report of Work on "Big Ditch" and Tells Graphic Story of Efforts Made to Successfully Combat Slides Which Repeatedly Fill Canal—Cost to the United States $350,000,000.00.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—No definite date for the official opening of the Panama Canal is set in the annual report of Colonel George Goethals chairman and chief engineer of the canal commission, which has just been submitted to Secretary Garrison. Neither is there any prediction of when the ships may first pass from ocean to ocean. The first day of the canal's actual operation still depends upon the treacherous slides of Culebra cut and how fast the dredges can keep the channels open. "It has been the general belief that the effect of the water in the cut would tend to retard slides and experience below the Gatun locks fully justifies this belief," said Colonel Goethals. "On the other hand the geologist is of the opinion that the water may to some extent develop new slides. Again much ado was made in 1909 over the seamy character of rock on the Isthmus, through which water flows quite rapidly, in consequence of which the question was raised that the lake might leak out through seams and crevices.

"If these things are liable to occur, the sooner the better, if the official opening of the canal is to occur January 1, 1915; for if water were not admitted this fall but were deferred until May 1, 1914, the full height could not be reached until October, 1914, leaving little time for the determination of these questions. "Before boats can be passed it will be necessary to remove the Gamboa Dike by dredges and to remove the slides as already outlined. The passage of commercial vessels is dependent, therefore, upon the time when proper channels can be dredged through the slides; should additional ones occur, they will necessarily advance the date when this will be accomplished."

The canal proper, exclusive of the approaches, the machine shops and warehouses and great ocean docks at either end, would have been completed during the last fiscal year, but for the extensive slides in the Culebra Cut. And to deal with the great problems involved in the removal of the slides no effective way was found except the bodily displacement of vast hills.

The slides and breaks increased as the cut was deepened.

"No treatment has proven effective for slides when once developed except that of excavating and hauling away material from the moving mass until the slide comes to rest or until the angle of repose for the particular material in motion is reached," said Colonel Goethals.

Last year it was predicted by geologists that the slides had been conquered and that little more activity could be expected because all the loose surface soil and stone had almost slid off, exposing great ridges of solid basalt rock which would act as barriers to further earth movements. Yet, when all was most promising and the canal excavation had gotten within 60 feet of the bottom of the cut on the east side, the rocks broke under the tremendous pressure and 2,000,000 cubic yards of material slid into and closed up the cut.

The financial operations of the canal are told in big figures: The disbursing officer has paid out $20,524,705 on pay rolls alone. Congress so far has appropriated $349,505,223 for canal construction, of which $10,676,950 went for fortifications.

TRAIN SMASHES AN AUTOMOBILE

Houston, Tex., Nov. 24.—Four United States soldiers and a civilian chauffeur were killed and another soldier was seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck and demolished at Texas City Junction by a Galveston, Harrisburg & Henderson passenger train. The automobile attempted to cross the track ahead of the train and was struck squarely in the center.

The dead: Privates Tarkington, Hill, Proctor and Livingstone and Chauffeur Sloan. The other man in the car, Private Henry Smith, although badly hurt, probably will recover. All the soldiers were stationed at Texas City.

ANOTHER VIEW

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 24.—That prohibition may be the worst possible means of procuring temperance was a point made by Professor Sutherland Simpson of Cornell medical college. Professor Simpson said that drinking by parents may affect the offspring in a number of ways. "Prohibition would not remedy at all the hereditary influence," said Professor Simpson. He pointed out that the Jews are at present a remarkably sober people, but that the Scriptures are full of warnings against drink. "If we were as old as the Jews in the alcoholic sense," he said, "there would be no drink problem at all." He suggested that perhaps it will only be by a process of elimination that we ever attain permanent sobriety, and if that is so, prohibition is the worst possible means of procuring temperance.

BOOTH SPEAKS

New York, Nov. 24.—District Attorney Charles H. Whitman shared honors with General Bramwell Booth at a "welcome demonstration" to the commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army at Carnegie music hall. It was the occasion of the general's first formal speech to a New York audience, and over 3,000 people heard him. He devoted the major part of his address to lessons from the life of his father, General Ballington Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army.

MURDER CLAIM IS DISPROVED

Cleveland, O., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Vera Scott did not shoot and kill Marshall Field, Jr., eight years ago, as she claims from her cell in the Los Angeles jail. So declare Cleveland friends. They recall that Nov. 23, 1905, a license was issued in Cleveland for her marriage the following day to Homer T. Prosser, whom she subsequently divorced in Los Angeles and shot and killed on a train at Libby, Mont., in 1910. She was tried for murder and acquitted.

As "Mrs. Countess" and "Miss Clark" the woman first became known in Cleveland in 1905. She lived at hotels, soon formed a large circle of acquaintances and became popular in hotel life. She wore good clothes, many jewels, and always seemed well supplied with money, although she veiled in considerable secrecy the source of her income as well as her past life. She hinted she had been on the stage a short time.

Prosser met her in September, 1905, when she was occupying a suite of rooms at the Hotel Euclid. Soon after their marriage the couple moved to Lisbon, O., and later removed to Los Angeles, after Prosser had found a diary kept by his wife which convinced him she had been connected with extensive swindling operations in various cities.

This diary purported to give names and dates of the alleged swindles. Prosser was heartbroken. The removal to Los Angeles was to bury in a strange place all recollections of his wife's past. Their marital life had already settled down to a series of bitter and lasting quarrels, although Prosser continued to live with her. In Los Angeles Prosser built a home and went into the automobile business. Their quarrels continued, and in 1910 Mrs. Prosser sued for divorce, alleging extreme cruelty. After the divorce, they met on a transcontinental train and again quarreled. Near Libby, Mont., the woman shot and killed her former husband.

Friends say that the tragic death of Prosser caused his mother to die of a broken heart. The date of the issuance of the marriage license, Nov. 23, 1905, being the same day on which Marshall Field, Jr., was shot and killed by a woman in a Chicago club, friends say, it was impossible that she could have committed the deed, as she is now said to declare. The marriage followed the next day.

WOMAN'S STORY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—After confessing that she was the woman who shot and killed Reese Prosser, son of an Ohio millionaire coal man, on a train in Montana while going from Seattle to the east, Mrs. Vera Scott, the "woman of mystery," now in the city jail on a charge of extor-

Don't Trust Calomel

Thousands Experience Bad After Effects From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects. Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though, he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him, years ago, towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 7 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. And their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity, when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, by following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts, or castor oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

ing money from prominent Los Angeles and Pasadena business men, then made an even more sensational confession when she declared that she had killed Marshall Field, Jr., in the Everleigh club, a notorious resort in Chicago. The woman said she shot and killed Prosser, whom she had divorced, when he attempted to kill her on a train. She shot Field, she said, when hate drove her mad. The woman said she received $25,000 from Marshall Field, Sr., and fled the country. She denies that she ever extorted a penny here, but admits receiving at least $60,000 from her many admirers.

HOW THAT TURKEY LASTS.

Roasted turkey on Thursday;
Friday eat it cold;
Saturday it's turkey hash
(Eat all that you can hold).
Sunday you will have croquettes—
Hail Monday you'll eat stew;
Tuesday they will surely get
Some turkey soup in you.
"Turn this turkey! How it lasts!"
Every one will say.
"Don't let's have another one
Till next Thanksgiving day!"

THE TRUTH OUT AT LAST.

Old Mother Hubbard she went to the cupboard
To get the poor dog a bone,
But when she got there the cupboard was bare,
And so the poor dog had none.
The cause of this osseous vacuum was,
The turkey, neck, stern and breast.
Being eaten, the cook had made up her mind
To make hash and soup of the rest.

Some Eventful Thanksgivings.

Among the days set apart for thanksgiving which in reality have been days of national sorrow may be numbered that of 1875, when the entire country was mourning over the death of Vice President Henry Wilson, whose remains on the Thanksgiving day of that year were lying in state at Washington; that of 1878, when the German steamer Pomerania, from New York, crowded with passengers, sank off Folkestone, England, carrying to a watery grave fifty souls; that of 1881, the morning of which found the country grieving over the death of President Garfield; that of 1882, when another terrible loss at sea set the country mourning, the steamer Ocean Grove striking on the rocks of Cape Canoe and proving a coffin ship to many on board; that of 1885, when the country mourned over the death of Vice President Thomas Hendricks, sleeping his last sleep at his Indianapolis home.

STRONG PLEA IS MADE FOR NEW FREIGHT RATES

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Arguing on behalf of the Central Freight Association lines, which takes in lines from Buffalo and Pittsburgh west to St. Louis, Frederic A. Delano, of Chicago, president of the Wabash Railway, presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission here today, the claims of three railroads to the right to put into effect their tariffs increasing by five per cent, their rate on commodity and class freight. This increased tariff was filed with the commission on October 15, last, and was to have become effective Nov. last, but was suspended when the commission agreed to reopen the so-called 1910 case.

"In the 1910 case," said Mr. Delano, "The Commission reiterated a principle it has frequently applied in previous cases involving the reasonableness of competitive rates, which is tersely stated in the following sentence taken from the Spokane case: 'We must, therefore, in fixing rates, have regard not altogether to any one particular railroad, but to the whole situation, and must consider the effect of whatever order we make upon all these defendants.'"

"In applying this principle in the 1910 case, the Commission held that the Pennsylvania, New York Central and B. & O. Systems were for the purpose of measuring the reasonableness of rates, fairly typical of the railroads in Official Classification territory.

"The great network of railways covering the entire territory earned during the year ending June, 30, 1910," said Mr. Delano, "239 million dollars, during the year ending June 30, 1913, 275 million dollars, or a gross increase of about 36 million dollars; but in the former year the operating expenses and taxes were 182 million dollars, and in the latter year, 227 million dollars, or an increase in expenses of about 45 million dollars, resulting in a decrease in net revenues, after payment of taxes, of over nine million dollars and in net corporate revenue of more than 16 million dollars.

Mr. Delano declared the figures for the first two months of the present fiscal year were still less encouraging.

"A five per cent increase in rates will not be adequate to meet the demands of the territory. The rates in that territory, both freight and passenger, are the lowest rates prevailing in the United States, and the interests of the people of that rapidly growing and developing section of the country, to say nothing of the carriers, require, in the near future, a readjustment of the rates, both freight and passenger, to a basis which will enable that territory to have good railroads and the people to have efficient and adequate service and to progress measurably with the other sections of the country.

SERIOUS QUARREL ABOUT FOOTBALL

Army Officers' Attack on Game Causes Trouble.

TOWNSLEY ASSAILS SPORT.

Commandant of United States Military Academy Says Gridiron Pastime "Serves No Good Purpose," and Surgeon General Stokes Now Indorses His Stand.

Colonel Clarence Townsley, commandant of the United States Military Academy at West Point, assails football as a great menace to athletes and especially to the cadets of Uncle Sam. He suggests that the frequency of injuries to football players and the permanent character of many of such injuries make it a question of whether football is of sufficient value to the corps to warrant its continuance and the tremendous expenditure of time and money involved.

According to the colonel, of the sixty-one injuries due to football and treated at the hospital at West Point from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30 last year eleven were of a character liable to cause future trouble—that is, 18 per cent of the injuries were of a serious nature. Colonel Townsley says:

"Football certainly serves no good purpose in the physical development of training the corps, as it is voluntary and attracts to its squad only the few who are already physically strong, active and well developed. Its value, if it has any, lies mainly in the interest, entertainment and excitement it affords to the other members of the corps and the thousands who attend its principal contests and are willing to contribute to its support."

Stokes Also Opposes.

Surgeon General Stokes is on record as opposed to the playing of football at the naval academy. For several years he has protested against what he terms "spectacular athletics," and has produced statistics showing the unfavorable results due to "overtraining and overstraining, followed by periods of physical quietude exacted by service conditions."

In one of his reports he showed the heart, general poor health, obesity and tuberculosis, etc.

Surgeon General Stokes believes that this condition is brought about by overtraining and overstraining and has recommended that athletics be regulated to avoid such conditions, that endurance contests dependent upon brute force be eliminated and that a maximum effort be made to develop a symmetrical, normal physique, rather than a highly specialized machine.

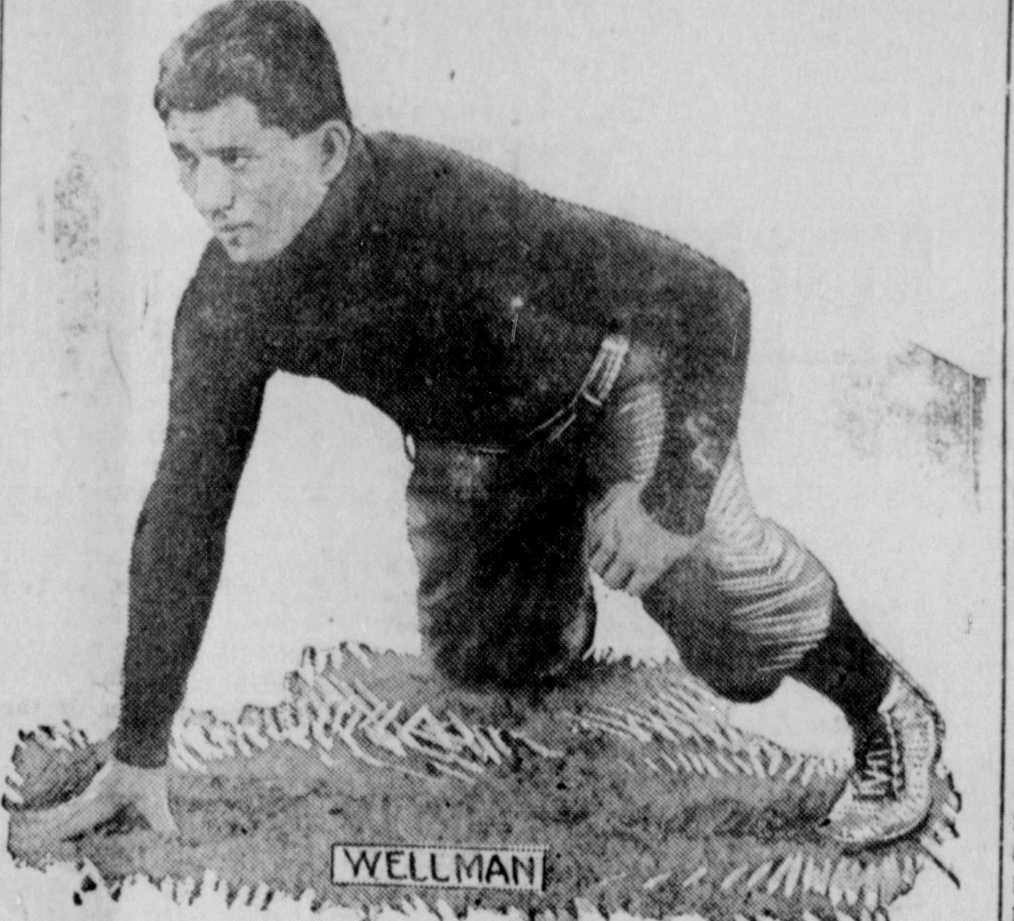

Other army officers differ with Colonel Townsley and Surgeon General Stokes on the subject and a lively army quarrel is on, one side favoring abolishing the game at the military academy, the other desiring that it be continued.

MICHIGAN ATHLETICS.

The University Appoints Committee to Handle Existing Problems.

For the purpose of treating either directly with the intercollegiate conference in regard to a possible arbitration of present difficulties or with the Michigan board of regents the board of control of the University of Michigan athletics at its annual session recently appointed a committee consisting of Professor Allen S. Whitney, Judge James O. Murfin of Detroit and Albert Fletcher, a student member of the board. The method of procedure is to be decided by the committee.

The action of the board came following a practical demand made by the Daily, the student publication, that definite action be taken immediately relative to the opening of official negotiations with the conference.

The instructions given the committee include an order to confer with the board of regents and are prompted by the belief of the board members that the regents by their action in sending resolutions to the regents of the conference universities have taken the matter of negotiations out of the hands of the board of control.

Want Green Law Amended.

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Organized Cleveland employers appealed to Governor Cox to recommend an amendment to the Green workmen's compensation law at the special legislative session covering the point on which Federal Judge Day of Cleveland largely increased the scope of the legal meaning of the words "willful act" of the employer. Definition of the term "willful act" is wanted in the law so that employers will not be compelled to risk what a court may construe it to mean.

Lost Life in Flames.

Alliance, O., Nov. 24.—When he entered his burning home at Maximo, near here, to get clothing for his wife and two children who had jumped from a second-story window, Frank Manguary, 50, was burned to death. The man went coon hunting. When he returned he made a fire in the kitchen stove and went to sleep in a chair. When he awoke the house was in flames.

Woman Scalped.

Wauseon, O., Nov. 24.—While Mrs. Edward Forest was attempting to oil a gas engine at the Forest farm, four miles east of Wauseon, her hair caught on the governor of the engine. She was scalped and injured so badly that it is feared she may die. Mr. Forest is ill with a fever and requested that she go out and show his father where to oil the engine.

Woman Killed in Auto Crash.

Easton, Pa., Nov. 24.—Mrs. O. G. Schultz of Morristown, N. J., was instantly killed when an automobile driven by her husband collided with the car of G. C. Johnston of New York. Schultz's car overturned, pinning Mrs. Schultz under it and crushing her skull.

Wood Thrown From His Horse.

Washington, Nov. 24.—While riding with his daughter, Miss Louisa Wood, on the Fort Myer military reservation, Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, was thrown from his horse. He suffered no dangerous injury, however.

Large papers or leaves of books that have become soiled from much handling can be put into perfect condition if the loose dirt is first rubbed off with a piece of bread. Then cover the spots with blotting paper made damp with oxalic acid in solution. Lastly pass a hot iron over the blotting paper until it dries.

To remove deep set creases in papers or the leaves of a book put between two pieces of white blotting paper—on any unsized paper—slightly dampened, and press with a warm iron until the page is perfectly smooth.—New York Tribune

Dispose of Stocks at Low Prices.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 24.—The police department, under orders from Mayor Baker, made no effort to close the saloons here Sunday. They followed this policy because the new license law did not go into effect until today. Many saloonkeepers who had been denied licenses disposed of their stocks at bargain prices. It is said that in some saloons liquors were auctioned off to the highest bidders.

Licensed Saloons Closed.

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Licensed saloons in nearly all cities were closed tight, but police in many cases winked at violations by saloonkeepers who were put out of business and who resorted to open selling to get rid of their stock, according to information from larger cities received by the state liquor licensing board and state officers of the Anti-Saloon league.

Automobile Overturns.

Bellefontaine, O., Nov. 24.—Louis Moore was perhaps fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding skidded and overturned while it was speeding along a country road. The three occupants of the car were thrown 50 feet, but Moore was the only one seriously injured.

FEDERALS RETREAT BEFORE THE REBELS

Rebels Still Hold Juarez and Federal Troops Fall Back and Prevent Bloody Engagement.

WILSON SAYS HUERTA REGIME CRUMBLING

Mexican Newspapers Are in Iron Grasp of Wily Mexican Ruler Who Uses Them for Purpose of Deceiving the People in Order to Help His Cause.

By Associated Press

El Paso, Texas, November 24.—So far as known in Juarez there has been no fighting between the Federals and Rebels south of Juarez. The Rebels were stretched across the country from east to west for 13 or 14 miles south of Juarez last night, while the commander, Gen. Francisco Villa was in Juarez arranging to send supplies to them.

The Federals, according to Villa, had retreated from a point 18 miles south of Juarez which they had reached in their advance, when they saw the Rebels marching out. Villa immediately camped and does not know what became of the Federals, but says if they do not attack them soon, he will press south after them. His objective point is Chihuahua City. He declares that he intends to hold Juarez or die fighting.

WILSON THINKS HUERTA'S DAYS ARE NUMBERED

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—That Pres. Wilson believes that the Huerta government slowly is crumbling, was reiterated today at the White House. Discussing the situation generally the President pointed out that the local press in Mexico City could print uncontradicted, baseless statements as to the future intentions of the United States, as evidence of the ability of the Huerta Government to spread any impression it pleased through the Mexican press. The President referred incidentally to optimistic predictions during the last few days in Mexican newspapers that recognition of the Huerta Government by the United States was forthcoming. The Washington Government, it is known, is irrevocably determined under no circumstances to recognize Huerta.

There were no new developments today in the situation generally, according to the White House officials, but added interest was developed in the President's forthcoming annual message, which he will read to Congress, when it became known that among the subjects to be discussed will be included a statement giving the status of the Mexican situation. The President indicated that he would keep his message abreast of developments in Mexico so that his presentation of events would be up to the day of delivery. Mr. Wilson expressed satisfaction today over the attitude of foreign governments, and indicated it was wholly friendly and showed a desire to co-operate with the United States.

NO MORE TANGO EDICT OBSERVED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Germany, November 24.—Emperor William's edict forbidding German army and navy officers to dance the Tango and other steps while in uniform has been taken seriously here and the same rule has been introduced throughout the diplomatic circles. A change was made today in the program for the dance to be held after the Thanksgiving dinner of the American colony. This was because it was learned that any member of the diplomatic corps present would be forced to withdraw should the Tango be danced.

GOING UP AFTER PRICE OF EGGS

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—Agents of the Department of Justice began an investigation of the alleged combination of cold storage concerns which Attorney General McReynolds says, may be responsible for the high price of eggs and other products. If a combination is discovered, criminal prosecution may result.

WAS INTOXICATED HAD FULL BOTTLES

John Geller, hailing from Dayton and accompanied by one full quart of whiskey and one pint, made his appearance on the streets Saturday night, seeing double and trying his best to walk straight. He had come in on the evening train from Dayton intending to spend over Sunday here. He was placed in the county jail to await until he was sober before paying the usual $5 and costs for his offense.

TWO MORE U. S. ARMY AVIATORS ADDED TO LIST OF FATALITIES

By Associated Press.

San Diego, Cal., November 24.—Lieutenants H. M. Kelly and E. L. Ellington, 1st Division Army Aviation Corps, were killed today in a fall of about 80 feet in an aeroplane. The accident occurred across the bay from San Diego on the grounds of the Army School on North Island.

Louisville, Ky., November 24.—Lieutenant Hugh M. Kelly, killed in an aeroplane accident today was a native of Kentucky. He has been commandant at the State university. He was a son of Col. R. M. Kelly who was well known for many years as the editor of the Louisville Commercial.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—The deaths of Lieutenants Kelly and Ellington today make a total of 15 fatalities from aviation in government service, 12 in the army and 1 in the navy and 2 army instructors who were civilians, since experiments first began at Fort Myer in 1908. Seven have met death this year. In aviation accidents of all kinds the world over, 368 persons have been killed since 1908. This year numbering 197.

FINAL TOUCHES AT WHITE HOUSE

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Finishing touches on arrangements for the White House wedding were in evidence in the historic East Room today and a rehearsal of the ceremony late in the afternoon completed all plans for tomorrow's program when Jessie Wilson, the President's second daughter will become the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre.

Gifts and guests continued to arrive during the day. While the number of guests will be much smaller than at the wedding of Alice Roosevelt and Nick Longworth, a distinguished company has been invited and the ceremony tomorrow promises to be a brilliant affair.

DYNAMITE FOUND ALONG HIGHWAY

By Associated Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 24.—That 120 sticks of dynamite have been collected along Grant Boulevard, a fashionable east side drive, during the past three weeks, was made known today by the police. The dynamite had been scattered along the road systematically, but none of it had exploded. A suspect was arrested today.

SIX ARE KILLED MANY INJURED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Germany, Nov. 24.—Six men were killed and 2 others fatally injured when a train crashed into a group of workmen just outside of Berlin this morning. The train had not been signaled and its approach was hidden by a cloud of smoke.

TREE SHIPPED TO OHIO BY PARCEL POST.

Franklin, Pa., Nov. 24.—A tree was shipped from Franklin by parcel post. It was collected by Albert Bunnell, a rural carrier, for a farmer who desired to send it to a friend in Ohio. The branches had been bound closely to the trunk of the tree with twine and the girth was therefore only four inches. The tree was eight feet long, and Bunnell would not accept it until he had sawed it off to keep the parcel within the limitation.

WANTS PARCEL LIMIT FIXED AT 50 POUNDS

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., November 24.—Postmaster General Burleson has recommended to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the maximum weight of parcels post packages be increased from 20 to 50 lbs. to all distances. The proposed changes would not affect existing parcels post rates. The lower rates will continue to apply only to matter transported within the first and second zones.

GALE SWEEPS LAKE

By Associated Press.

Salt Ste. Marie, Ontario, November 24.—Wireless messages received here today from lake boats reported that a heavy northwest gale with snow was blowing on Lake Superior. The Alberta and Huronic reported that with 50 other vessels they were sheltering in White Fish bay.

LICENSE LAW IS IGNORED

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 24.—15 of the 470 saloonkeepers rejected by the Liquor License Commissions opened their places today in defiance of the law and were cited to appear by the police in municipal court tomorrow.

Most of those cited were among the saloonkeepers who were originally granted licenses but were later rejected. There are 57 saloonkeepers in this list. No disorders were reported by the police.

FEW SALOONISTS DISREGARD LAW

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, November 24.—According to reports received by Governor Cox and members of the State Liquor License Commission today, with but few exceptions in Cincinnati and Cleveland the saloonkeepers who were refused licenses kept their places of business closed. Governor Cox does not anticipate any trouble in the enforcement of the law.

ONE SALOONIST IGNORES THE LAW

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 24.—Only one Cleveland saloonkeeper of the 900 refused licenses here under the new law opened his place of business today. He is C. W. Horvel, and was arrested.

SPRINGFIELD AFTER WASHINGTON'S TRADE

Jeffersonville Man Who Keeps Close Eye on Affairs Issues Warning to Local Merchants.

SPRINGFIELD MERCHANTS PLAN TO RUN EXCURSIONS.

Strenuous Efforts to be Made to Pull Trade Springfieldward and Scores Who Have Long Traded in Washington May Succumb to Lures Which Springfield Business Men Plan for Capturing Trade.

"Unless Washington merchants unite in an effort to counteract the advantages just obtained by Springfield merchants as a result of the installation of the Baker motor bus between Jeffersonville and South Charleston, they are going to lose thousands of dollars worth of trade annually," said a Jeffersonville man who has studied the situation and who is certain that he has the situation summed up correctly.

It seems that the Springfield merchants are not content with having the advantage of a motor-bus service in addition to that of the D. T. & I., but are now planning to run excursions from Jeffersonville, paying the railroad fare of all citizens from Jeffersonville, Sedalia, South Solon and the surrounding towns, and they expect to turn several hundred persons into Springfield to do their shopping and these same persons have been shopping in this city for years.

Other plans of a far-reaching nature have been worked out by the Merchant's Association of Springfield, in an effort to take advantage of every opportunity to extend the boundary line of their shopping district southward.

It is claimed that local business men pronounce Springfield merchants among their hard competitors, but have always been successful in keeping a large portion of the trade in the above neighborhood, pouring into this city, the people realizing the splendid shopping advantages of Washington.

With the efforts of the Springfield business men centered on pulling trade to that city, some form of counteracting the influence brought to bear will probably be formulated by local merchants.

A motor bus between Jeffersonville, coming to this city by way of Bloomington, is one of the plans suggested as a solution to the problem. However, it is claimed, Mr. Baker is not inclined to extend the service to this city.

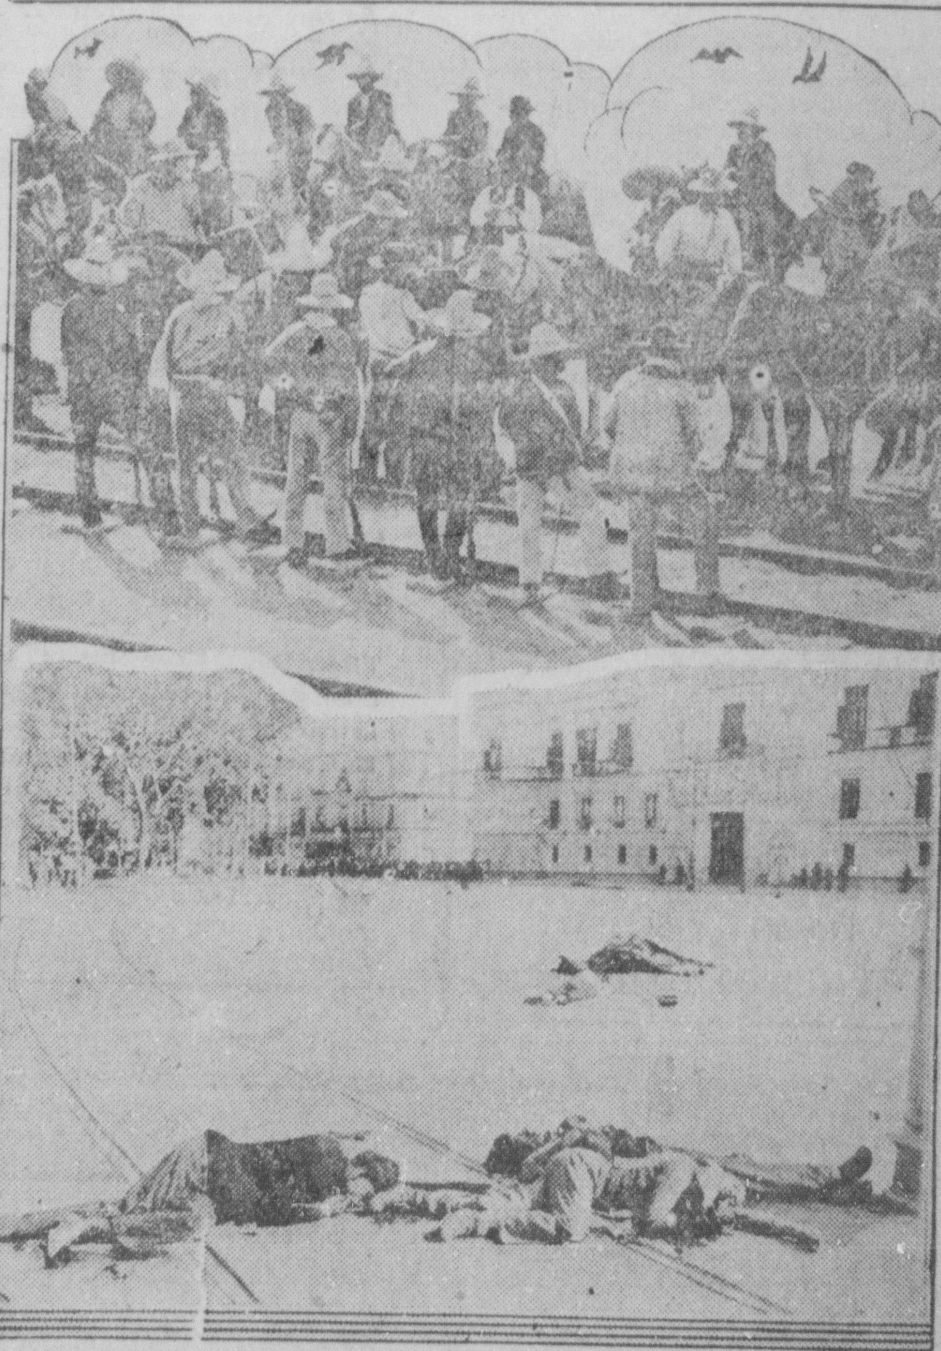

PEARL THIEVES ARE SENTENCED

By Associated Press.

London, England, November 24.—Sentence was pronounced today on four prisoners charged with stealing and receiving the pearl necklace valued at $650,000 which disappeared during transit by registered mail from Paris to London, but which was afterwards found lying on a sidewalk in London with only one or two pearls missing. The accused were arrested September 2nd, while trying to sell the pearls.

Two of the prisoners were condemned to seven years penal servitude each, one to five years and the other to 18 months hard labor.

Pictorial Reasons For Wilson's Stand on Mexican Question

Photos copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

BOTH of these pictures show why President Wilson refused to recognize Huerta as provisional president of Mexico. They are not pleasant pictures, but they are real ones. One shows some of the Mexicans who were shot dead in front of the national palace during the disturbances which accompanied the defeat of the federal forces under Madero and Madero's murder. Huerta had the army with him, and they shot to kill. The other picture shows a band of rebels of the type that kept things stirred up and necessitated President Wilson's notice to Americans in Mexico to flee from the much disturbed country.

MYSTIC NUMBER THIRTEEN FIGURES IN WILSON WEDDING

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The mystic number 13—to some an evil superstition but to President Wilson an omen of good luck—plays a prominent part in tomorrow's wedding at the White House. Not by design but by a curious coincidence the bridal party numbers exactly twelve so that when the ushers and attendant maids stand with the bride and groom in front of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Princeton, N. J., there will be just thirteen on the raised platform banked with flowers in the historic East Room.

Both the names "Jessie W. Wilson" and "Francis B. Sayre" contain exactly thirteen letters each, as does the name of the President, "Woodrow Wilson."

But the thirteen that distinguishes Miss Wilson at this particular time, is that she will be the thirteenth White House bride.

Here is a list of the twelve weddings which have been held in the White House during its century of existence:

Lucy Payne, widow of a nephew of George Washington, and sister-in-law of President Madison, and Justice Todd of the Supreme Court, March 11, 1811.

Anna Todd of Philadelphia, cousin of Mrs. Madison, wife of the President, and Representative Edward B. Jackson, a great-uncle of "Stonewall" Jackson, -- 2.

Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, and Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur of New York, 1820.

Mary Hellen, neice of Mrs. Adams, and John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams, February 20, 1828.

Della Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter of one of President Andrew Jackson's famous "kitchen cabinet," and Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot, secretary of the French legation, 1829.

Emily Martin, neice of President Jackson, and Lewis Donaldson, a grandson of Jefferson, 1831.

Mary Easton of Tennessee, neice of President Jackson, and Lucien B. Polk, a relative of President Polk, 1847.

Elizabeth Tyler, third daughter of President Tyler, and William Waller of Williamsburg, Va., January 31, 1842.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Algernon C. F. Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

Emily Platt, neice of President Hayes, and Gen. Russell Hastings, formerly lieutenant-colonel of the 23d Regiment of Ohio Volunteers, June 19, 1878.

Francis Folsom, the President's ward, and President Grover Cleveland, June 2, 1886.

Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Representative Nicholas Longworth, February 17, 1906.

corted her to the white house and then joined the bridegroom at the Hughes house.

GUESTS ARRIVING AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 24.—This evening the relatives of Francis B. Sayre and Miss Jessie Wilson will meet together at a dinner arranged by the president and Mrs. Wilson in the White House, while the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party will be dining and dancing on board the yacht Mayflower.

The platform upon which the bridal party will stand has been erected just under the great east window of the east room of the White House, known as the bridal window. It was under this same window that Nellie Grant plighted her faith to Algernon Sartoris of London and that Alice Roosevelt became Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

The wedding procession will consist of the four ushers, who will walk two and two ahead of Miss Margaret Wilson, the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will walk behind Miss Wilson and the bride-to-be, on the arm of her father, will come the last in line.

As to the ceremony, which will take place at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow, the groom, with his best man and the officiating clergymen, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach and the Rev. John Nevin Sayre, assistant, will await the coming of the procession at the dais at the westward side of the great east room.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who will be the best man, arrived here today with Mrs. Grenfell. Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, Miss Adeline M. Scott of Princeton and Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, bridesmaids, also arrived during the day.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Robert H. Sayre of Bethlehem, Pa., was among the day's arrivals. She was accompanied by her other son, the Rev. John Nevin Sayre, who es-

OHIO STATE BANQUET

The annual Ohio State banquet will be held Friday evening Nov. 28. This is a banquet which is held in every county in the state and is promoted by the Alumni Association. It is a place where all the alumni and both ex-students and present students of Ohio State University have a chance to get together and spend an enjoyable evening discussing old times and also to learn some of the things that are going on at the University at the present time.

There is a committee of Fayette county students, who are attending Ohio State University, working out an excellent program for the banquet. They have been able to secure Professor Price, Dean of the College of Agriculture to deliver an address at the banquet. Prof. Price, besides being Dean, is also a member of the State Agriculture Commission, which is a $5,000.00 position. Dean Price spent the year 1911 and 1912 in the Old Country, studying the foreign Credit System, and it is certain he will deliver one of the best addresses ever given at an Ohio State banquet, and you cannot afford to miss it.

This is going to be the best banquet ever given. The Fayette county banquet has ranked second and third as to success and size in previous years and they are going to try and go to the top notch this year. Every Ohio State Alumni should show his or her loyalty and come out to this banquet. Bring your wives and husbands and friends and get them interested in Ohio State.

It has not as yet been definitely decided as to where the banquet will be held but it will be announced in a later edition. It will also be announced later as to whom you are to report whether you can be present or not so an estimate can be made of number of plates to prepare. Be sure and come.

THANKSGIVING POEM BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER

ON the banks of the Xeul the dark Spanish maiden
Comes up with the fruit of the tangled vine laden,
And the creole of Cuba laughs out to behold
Through orange leaves shining the broad spheres of gold,
Yet with dearer delight from his home in the north
On the fields of his harvest the Yankee looks forth,
Where crooknecks are coiling and yellow fruit shines
And the sun of September melts down on his vines.

Ah, on Thanksgiving day, when from east and from west,
From north and from south, comes the pilgrim and guest;
When the gray haired New Englander sees round his board
The old broken links of affection restored;
When the care wearied man seeks his mother once more
And the worn matron smiles where the girl smiled before,
What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye,
What calls back the past, like the rich pumpkin pie?

Oh, fruit loved of boyhood, the old days recalling,
When wood grapes were purpling and brown nuts were falling;
When wild, ugly faces we carved in its skin,
Glaring out through the dark, with a candle within;
When we laughed round the corn heap, with hearts all in tune,
Our chair a broad pumpkin, our lantern the moon,
Telling tales of the fairy who traveled like steam
In a pumpkin shell coach, with two rats for her team!

Then thanks for thy present. None sweeter nor better
E'er smoked from an oven nor circled a platter.
Fairer hands never wrought at a pastry more fine;
Brighter eyes never watched o'er its baking than thine,
And the prayer which my mouth is too full to express
Swells my heart that thy shadow may never be less,
That the days of thy lot may be lengthened below,
And the fame of thy worth like a pumpkin vine grow,
And thy life be as sweet, and its last sunset sky
Golden tinted and fair as thy own pumpkin pie.

SALOON QUESTION

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 24.—All the saloons, with a few exceptions, which had received licenses closed yesterday. These places which did not receive licenses were open as usual, but this was tolerated by the police. Many of the saloons sold all their stock during the course of the day and made no effort to replenish it. The cases were not enough to supply the demand of the thirsty, and many pilgrimages were made to towns across the river in Kentucky, which do not observe Sunday closing rules.

FEDERAL ARMY IS OVERAWED

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 24. — With a battle line extending for 12 miles from Bauche, on the west, to Lamesa, on the east, less than 15 miles south of and below Juarez, Pancho Villa's rebel army has overawed and driven back the federal army which Saturday was menacing Juarez.

This is the substance of a report brought to Juarez by Villa himself, who with a bodyguard of 40 men returned from the front to arrange for sending additional supplies to his men. A federal troop train arrived at Tierra Blanca, but the federals were driven back before a general engagement took place, and Villa says the entire federal force is in full retreat. Tierra Blanca is only 18 miles from Juarez.

Panic-stricken by the sight of the vanguard of the rebel army, Villa declares the federal army advancing to attack Juarez retreated in haste. He says: "The federals hastily backed their trains southward from the neighborhood of Tierra Blanca. We do not know how far they went, but think they did not stop before reaching Samalayuca."

Samalayuca is 32 miles south of Juarez, on the Mexican Central railroad, where the first fight occurred Saturday.

Federals Retreat.

The principal fighting that has featured the northward advance of the federals took place near Samalayuca when a rebel scouting party of 100 men under Rodolfo Fierro moved to attack a party of federal soldiers who had detained there.

According to Fierro, the Huerta troops had unloaded two cannon from the train, which was the leading one in the group of eight which are carrying the Huerta soldiers northward. "They turned their cannon on us when we were several miles away," says Fierro, who accompanied Villa to Juarez. "We had no artillery, but kept moving toward them. When we got within a mile of the train the federals reloaded their artillery and backed down the track. No member of my command was killed or wounded by the firing. Later they advanced toward Juarez and got to Tierra Blanca, when, Villa says, they saw his army coming out of Juarez and again retreated."

Villa encamped his army and is waiting for the federals to approach again. If they don't come, he says he will go after them in a few days. He does not mean to bring his army back to Juarez unless driven in by the federals, he declared. Villa says he thinks the federal army numbers 4,000 men; although federal agents here claim it numbers 9,500. The rebels have between 5,000 and 6,000 men.

A Beautiful Belief

The warm weather—so unusual for this time of year—which prevailed during all of last week despite the fact that the weather bureau dutifully posted up each day the "rain and colder tomorrow" bulletin, proved to have a wonderfully stimulating effect on the old-timers.

Anything decidedly out of the ordinary run, in the weather line, especially, is cause sufficient for the believers in signs to busy themselves handing out prophecy and proof.

It is not, therefore, entirely unexpected that the men who read nature's moods and intuitions from the trees and the flowers, and in the habits and work of the birds and the animals, come forth, some of them to tell us that the signs all point to a mild open winter, and some of them with just as much earnestness and with the same quality and quantity of proof, that the signs all point to a long, cold winter.

Of course each one of these close observers, with years' of experience, will put in a saving clause to the effect that there may be "spells" of weather different from the kind predicted.

These comprehensive saving clauses are a splendid method by which the prophet can save his own reputation and by which he may retain his belief himself.

These men who are so fortunately situated that they can afford to watch nature's wild creatures and watch the trees and the flowers with that singleness of purpose and that intensity of faith, that after while they really believe they have talked with nature and have been told what is in store for mankind, are fortunate indeed.

Of course the practical, hard working man, busy day in and day out, chasing the round, rolling dollar, takes no stock in such "rubbish". But after all, does the busy dollar chasing man know there is no real foundation for the prophecy—he has never had time to study nature closely—has never had the opportunity, as has his more fortunate brother, to watch closely, for years, until he can imagine, at least, that nature is talking to him.

What a delightful state that must be, even if there is nothing real in it at all, to believe that one is on speaking terms with nature? How much company one would have and how many great secrets one could get and how happy one would be in that belief.

And there are many in each community who firmly believe all of that and are happy in the belief.

Who can say and successfully prove that such a belief is not well founded?

It requires only something out of the ordinary to make these students of nature break their silence and tell their fellow men what nature has confided to them.

Rather, it requires only something out of the ordinary to make the practical man listen to those silent men who study nature closely. The silent men are willing to talk of their beliefs and experiences, but the world is too busy to listen to them until the unusual attracts their attention.

Good and Faithful Servant

Five members of that tribunal which all Americans believe to be the most dignified body of men in the world—the Supreme Court of the United States—Saturday, crowded into a small and humble little home in the less pretentious portion of Washington, D. C., and stood with bowed heads during the funeral of Archie Lewis.

Who was Archie Lewis to whose memory these distinguished men so signally paid respect?

He was the negro messenger of the court—the man who had taken care of the robes worn by the judges during the sessions of the court ever since their elevation to office.

Before Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes had started to school, Lewis was the messenger of the Supreme court. Before three members of that great tribunal—Justice Day, Justice Devanter and Justice Lamar—were born, Lewis was faithfully discharging the duties of the position to which he had been called.

The incident furnishes a fitting tribute to worth. A humble position—court messenger—but so faithfully did Lewis discharge the duties of the small trust imposed upon him that his very constancy to duty, small though that duty was, made him great.

That which he was called upon to do, Lewis did well—could any man do more?

Could a stronger acknowledgment of that fact and a more splendid testimonial of respect to the memory of any man have been given?

Was ever a more just decree entered by these great jurists than that one which closed the honorable career of a faithful negro servant? Could those words with which every man hopes the final chapter of his life may be concluded, "Well done thou good and faithful servant" ever have been more effectively spoken than they were when five Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States entered the humble cottage which the faithful negro messenger had called his home on earth and stood reverently while the gates of eternity were closing.

DREAMS.

You are the one in the sleeper,
Artist, perhaps, who can paint;
Brushing your colors on canvas,
Picturing devil and saint.

He is the boss of the section,
Serving for the safety of you.
Think you his thought never wanders
Higher than hand-car and crew?

Oh, there are visions forever!
Mind has been made of their gleams.
Brushes or grammar may fail us,
Never the harvest of dreams.

He loves a cottage with children.
He has a heart in the stars,
Fleeing in startled confusion,
Over the roofs of the cars.

Midst the rough blows of the sledges,
Timed by the whistle of breath,
Rises his darling, dim of wonder,
Searching the secret of death.

Staunchly his labor lies under;
Rushes your train out of sight;
Earth with us all passes softly
Into the dusk of the night.

UNCONSCIOUS AT POST

Metuchen, N. J., Nov. 24.—William C. Carr, 60, engineer of the express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, was found unconscious in his cab with a hand on the airbrake lever when the train unexpectedly stopped near Millstone Junction. He had been terribly scalded by steam from a broken boiler pipe, and just before losing consciousness he had shut the throttle, applied the brakes and made sure that the train would run without a guiding hand. Carr's condition is serious.

How Her Little Girl Was Restored To Health.

Mrs. Chas. Schriever of 139 Himrod St., Brooklyn, N. Y. says: "My little girl was frail, sickly and all run down after having had the grippe. I was advised to give her Vinol and after the first bottle noticed an improvement. She has taken four bottles and has picked up rapidly, having gained six pounds in three weeks."

The reason Vinol builds up weak, ailing children so quickly is because it contains in a delicious combination the two most world famous tonics—i. e., the strength creating, body building elements of cod liver oil, with all the useless grease eliminated, and tonic iron for the blood added. Hartman Theater

Attractions Week of December First "The Master Mind," the play in which Edmund Breese will be seen at the Hartman Theater, Columbus, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 4-5-6th, with matinee on the 6th, is said to be one of intense interest to all classes of theatergoers. The fact that a master criminal, aided by his subjects, can out-general a district attorney with all the resources of the law at his command, is the theme upon which the four acts of the play are based. In revealing the plot the author has introduced a pretty love story, which is worked out with a charm of manner furnishing many delightful and tender scenes.

Mr. Breese as Andrew—the Master Mind—is given many opportunities to display his wonderful ability as a character actor. He will be supported by an excellent cast. The play is said to be a genuine thriller and holds the attention of the audience from beginning to end. Views of Others

THE MODERN WAY.

Not long ago a 17-year old boy stole fourteen hundred dollars and was about to sail for England when he was arrested. He confessed that when he had that much money in his hands the temptation was too great for him to withstand.

"I've been crazy about going to Oxford University," he said. His room was searched and found to contain volumes of poetry, and a copy of "Tom Brown at Oxford." His mother said he had been bitterly disappointed when they had to take him out of high school at the end of the second year, and put him to work.

The case has appealed to the court officials and to the firm from which he stole the money. "If all this is true," said the vice president of the company, "if the boy wants a higher education and has the mental qualifications, I'll see that he gets it."

That is something like it. In most cases the boy would be sent to prison or to a reformatory for "punishment." If it had been a smaller sum of money, he possibly would have been offered "mercy" and would be driven to some other city, where his own neighbors would not see him and feel responsible for him.

The case of this boy is a forecast of what may happen in the future. Young people who go wrong will not be disgraced for life. The court will exercise discrimination and common sense. Such an offender will be placed under the care of the court, and given every chance to become an honest, respectable citizen.

There are courts exercising these human functions now. There will be more of them as time goes on, and as we grow more civilized. But there are still a few of the old precedent-loving, case-hardened judges left. What we should do is to try to get human beings, with human sympathies on our benches in every case. We must get rid of the legal automatons who obstruct justice. —Dayton News.

THANKSGIVING.

By MARIAN DOUGLAS.
I counted up my little store.
Why was I to others given more?
Why were their lips with honey fed
While mine had labor's hard earned bread?
A weary, hopeless task seemed living.
I could not bring to God thanksgiving.
There came a poor man to my door.
I shared with him my scanty store.
When, lo, my sense of want had flown
And rarest riches were my own!
So sweet is love's divided bread
I seemed with heaven's own manna fed.
What blessed joy there was in living!
I brought to God my glad thanksgiving.

PROBE LIVING COST

Washington, Nov. 24.—An inquiry into the high cost of living is being talked of by Democratic leaders in congress. Unless a special commission is named for the purpose the house committee on the judiciary, which is about to begin an inquiry into the operations of corporations, will pay special attention to living costs. It is understood that the commissioner of corporations, who has announced that he will ask congress to appropriate $600,000 to enable him to make an investigation of the practices of so-called trusts, also will touch upon the subject of the cost of living. Democrats charge that over-capitalization is a large factor in the increased cost of living.

WILL CANDLE ALL EGGS IN ORDER TO COMPLY WITH LAW

Local Grocers Installing Candling Apparatus in Compliance With Instructions from the State Dairy and Food Department—High Price Causes a Marked Decline in Number of Eggs Retailed.

The work of candling eggs will soon be inaugurated in this city by many of the grocers in order to comply with the law regulating the sale of eggs.

A State Dairy & Food Inspector, who has been in the city within the past few days, has informed the grocers that candling must be done or they will be liable to arrest if any bad eggs leave their stores.

And the inspector also stated that farmers who bring eggs to the grocers must be careful of the eggs offered, as the law makes it an offense for a farmer or anyone else to even offer for sale eggs that are stale.

"If a farmer has the grocer to candle the eggs in search of the bad ones, and takes back the bad eggs, he is liable to arrest and fine for having offered bad eggs. If a dealer guarantees all eggs sold, and will replace any stale eggs discovered by the customer, he can be prosecuted. No guarantee goes. Eggs must be candled." This is the way the inspector has handed out the law.

"I guess we will have to install a candling apparatus and candle all eggs we buy and all we sell," said one dealer Monday morning. He also stated that he had ordered a candler and would have it in use within a short time.

With eggs at 42 cents per dozen and prospects of going still higher, both the dealer and consumer want nothing but good eggs.

The price of eggs has resulted in a very marked decrease in the number consumed, according to local grocers, and it is expected that further increase in price will witness still fewer eggs used.

DELAY MAY RESULT IN HEARING CASES

Motions to quash the indictment in the cases of the State of Ohio against Delbert Payne for the murder of George W. Duffee, and the State of Ohio against Leo Brandon, for burglary of an inhabited dwelling in the night season, were heard Saturday by Judge Carpenter, and are now in the court's hands for consideration. As soon as the motions are disposed of and a judge can be had to try the cases, they will be assigned for trial.

Judge Carpenter is holding court this term at London (leaving Fayette without a court at present) the cases will probably be assigned to another judge as soon as one can be obtained.

It is not unusual that in crimes of the character of these that some delay is necessary and unavoidable. Special statutes must be observed in the cases and a special jury drawn and served on the defendant, at least 15 days before trial.

The Tudor and Brandon cases may be assigned for trial some time in December, but the Payne case in all probability cannot be tried on account of the special statutes governing the same and the difficulty encountered in securing a judge to try the same until some time in January next.

ARM CRUSHED AT SNIDER'S BAKERY

Clarence Dyke, formerly employed in the C. D. Snider bakery in this city, but who has been with Mr. Snider since his removal to Xenia, suffered the misfortune of having his right arm crushed in a horrible manner Sunday afternoon while at work in the Snider Bakery in Xenia.

His arm became fast in some of the machinery and was so badly crushed that it was at first believed that it would be necessary to remove it at the elbow.

Latest reports state that it may not be necessary to remove the arm at all, as the injuries were not as bad as first believed.

Mr. Dyke's friends in this city will regret to hear of his misfortune, as the injuries are liable to result in permanent inability to use the right-hand and arm to advantage.

WON BY ONE AND EVERYONE DID IT

"Next time I run for office I am going to get out and hustle," said a man Saturday, who had run for a township office and was elected by one vote.

"You see it was this way," he explained, "I did not care for the office and did not solicit any assistance, but since the election every man who wants a favor doesn't fail to remind me that it was his vote that elected me. So far some 20 fellows have thus informed me and of course I can't deny the truth of their assertion."

RAPID RISE IN RAILROAD OFFICE

It will be highly gratifying to a host of Washington friends to learn that Mr. Robert Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cullen, has been promoted to the position of assistant cashier of the D. T. & I. in Springfield.

Promotion is all the more noteworthy as Mr. Cullen only entered the D. T. & I. service as chief clerk of the freight office a month ago, and is making good with unusual rapidity.

Mr. Cullen was home spending Sunday and receiving the congratulations of friends.

CHILDREN OF THE HOME BROUGHT TO SERVICES

Thirty-eight children were brought in from the Children's home, Sunday morning to attend services at the Presbyterian church, the colored children going to the A. M. E. church. The children greatly enjoyed the ride to and fro in autos furnished by their owners and were much interested in the special Thanksgiving services. Supt. and Mrs. Tway accompanied them.

The Y. P. S. C. had arrangements in charge, Mr. Frank M. Fullerton, chairman of the Automobile committee.

DR. GEO. REICHEL GIVES VIVID INSIGHT INTO WHITE SLAVERY

Delivers Three Addresses Here Sunday, Including Address Before 700 Men at the Opera House, Where He Holds His Auditors Spell-Bound While Relating the Horrors of One of the Nation's Greatest Curses—Will Return in February to Address Meeting of Women.

Few lectures or addresses in recent years have created the deep impression and aroused those who have heard them, like the address given at the Empire Opera House Sunday afternoon, by Dr. Geo. V. Reichel, Ph. D., of the American Civic Reform Union, who was brought to this city under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Reichel appeared at the Baptist church in the morning and delivered an interesting address, and one of profound interest at the Christian church Sunday night.

Fully seven hundred men from 16 years of age to some of the oldest inhabitants in the city, thronged the Empire opera house to hear Dr. Reichel, and the profound silence of the large audience was mute evidence of the deep interest taken in the startling facts related by the speaker who more than once drew tears to many eyes as he related some touching incident in the terrible white slavery.

Dr. Reichel did not mince matters in dealing with the subject in hand, but spoke of conditions in connection with the white slavery curse, as they really exist, and some of his disclosures were of a nature that gave every one of his auditors a clearer insight into the awfulness of one of the greatest curses of modern times.

Dr. Reichel, owing to his work in aiding the efforts being made to put an end to white slavery, is a man who speaks with the knowledge of what he says is true, and many cases he mentioned brought the matter vividly before the seven hundred men who heard him.

Mr. James Whelpley furnished several piano numbers for the meeting, and Mr. Walter Springer very beau-

TAKEN TO COLUMBUS TO FACE CHARGE

Sam E. Layman, aged about 30 years, arrested in this city Saturday upon information from the Juvenile court of Columbus, charged with non-support, was taken to Columbus Sunday forenoon by Criminal Court Bailiff Jones, of Columbus.

The man was in this city trimming and improving trees when arrested.

CARD OF THANKS.

Frank M. Fullerton, agent of the Insurance Company of North America.

I most sincerely thank you for your prompt and courteous treatment in the adjustment of the loss sustained from fire at my barn, which occurred Saturday, November 22, 1913, at 1:15 p. m. You were on the ground and not only helped that brave, splendid fire-fighter, G. M. Paul, who had made a double quick run to the place, but you had the loss adjusted to my entire satisfaction within 9 minutes after the smoke cleared away. It was one of the most prompt settlements on record, and I assure you that in the future you shall carry all my insurance.

Moreover, I will recommend your agency to my friends as it is undoubtedly the best in the city. Your twenty-six years of labor, not alone for premium, but for the satisfaction of your clients, has won for you the well deserved trademark, "He will treat you right."

Thanking you again, I am gratefully yours,

FRANK M. FULLERTON.

BOYCOTT ON EGGS

New York, Nov. 24.—The national executive committee of the Housewives' league, of which Mrs. Julian Heath is national president, has called a nation-wide boycott on eggs. Telegrams were sent to 300 heads of local organizations throughout the country asking co-operation in the boycott.

Liquor Board Enjoined.

Napoleon, O., Nov. 24.—Edward Monthaven of Deshler, a rejected saloonkeeper, enjoined the Henry county liquor board from issuing a license to F. W. Stune. Judge Bailey granted the temporary injunction. It is asserted Stune is a nonresident of Ohio and was not in business in May, 1912. Monthaven was in business for 12 years.

Liquor Sold at Auction.

Akron, O., Nov. 24.—Sixty Akron saloons were forced out of business by the new license law. Hundreds of dollars worth of wet goods were sold at public auction. It was bargain day for the men.

BUSINESS OVERWHELMS NEW BAKER MOTOR BUS SUNDAY

The first two days of the Baker motor bus service between Jeffersonville and South Charleston were heavy days for the big seven-ton bus and Saturday afternoon alone some $47 were paid in fares.

Mr. Baker is greatly pleased with the success of his enterprise, and states that he may soon purchase one or more cars to be run as feeders to his road.

The fare from Jeffersonville to South Charleston is 30c or 15c from South Solon, and one trip Sunday afternoon the bus carried 107 persons some going to South Solon, South Charleston, and others returning from South Charleston to Solon and Jeffersonville.

Saturday night when the car left South Charleston it carried 48 passengers, and at one time Sunday afternoon the actual number of persons on the car was 53, besides several youngsters.

A speed of 18 to 20 miles can be made by the car, and a top is made at every house if passengers are awaiting to board the car.

One old man was so delighted with riding on the car that he made a round trip "just for fun" and was so delighted that he will make another round trip soon.

Everyone along the route taken by the car is delighted with the service and Saturday was a gala day in South Solon, with flags and bunting flying and everything on the boom.

The car passes within a half mile of Bookwalter, and many persons go from the village, walking to the road intersection to await the appearance of the car.

"Trade in Springfield" cards are carried in the bus.

Messrs. Will E. Summers and H. Buchanan, made a trip to Cedarville and Clifton Sunday.

Mrs. George W. Baker and son, Mr. Damon Baker, Mr. O. H. Robbins, accompanied Mr. Baker on the initial trip of his new motor bus between Jeffersonville and Springfield.

GREAT SLIDES STILL HAMPER CANAL WORK

Col. Goethals Files Report of Work on "Big Ditch" and Tells Graphic Story of Efforts Made to Successfully Combat Slides Which Repeatedly Fill Canal—Cost to the United States $350,000,000.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—No definite date for the official opening of the Panama Canal is set in the annual report of Colonel George Goethals chairman and chief engineer of the canal commission, which has just been submitted to Secretary Garrison. Neither is there any prediction of when the ships may first pass from ocean to ocean. The first day of the canal's actual operation still depends upon the treacherous slides of Culebra cut and how fast the dredges can keep the channels open. "It has been the general belief that the effect of the water in the cut would tend to retard slides and experience below the Gatun locks fully justifies this belief," said Colonel Goethals. "On the other hand the geologist is of the opinion that the water may to some extent develop new slides. Again much ado was made in 1909 over the seamy character of rock on the isthmus, through which water flows quite rapidly, in consequence of which the question was raised that the lake might leak out through seams and crevices.

"If these things are liable to occur, the sooner the better, if the official opening of the canal is to occur January 1, 1915; for if water were not admitted this fall but were deferred until May 1, 1914, the full height could not be reached until October, 1914, leaving little time for the determination of these questions.

"Before boats can be passed it will be necessary to remove the Gamboa Dike by dredges and to remove the slides as already outlined. The passage of commercial vessels is dependent, therefore, upon the time when proper channels can be dredged through the slides; should additional ones occur, they will necessarily advance the date when this will be accomplished."

The canal proper, exclusive of the approaches, the machine shops and warehouses and great ocean docks at either end, would have been completed during the last fiscal year, but for the extensive slides in the Culebra Cut. And to deal with the great problems involved in the removal of the slides no effective way was found except the bodily displacement of vast hills.

The slides and breaks increased as the cut was deepened.

"No treatment has proven effective for slides when once developed except that of excavating and hauling away material from the moving mass until the slide comes to rest or until the angle of repose for the particular material in motion is reached," said Colonel Goethals.

Last year it was predicted by geologists that the slides had been conquered and that little more activity could be expected because all the loose surface soil and stone had almost slid off, exposing great ridges of solid basalt rock which would act as barriers to further earth movements. Yet, when all was most promising and the canal excavation had gotten within 60 feet of the bottom of the cut on the east side, the rocks broke under the tremendous pressure and 2,000,000 cubic yards of material slid into and closed up the cut.

The financial operations of the canal are told in big figures: The disbursing officer has paid out $20,524,705 on pay rolls alone. Congress so far has appropriated $349,505,223 for canal construction, of which $10,676,950 went for fortifications.

TRAIN SMASHES AN AUTOMOBILE

Houston, Tex., Nov. 24.—Four United States soldiers and a civilian chauffeur were killed and another soldier was seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck and demolished at Texas City Junction by a Galveston, Harrisburg & Henderson passenger train. The automobile attempted to cross the track ahead of the train and was struck squarely in the center.

The dead: Privates Tarkington, Hill, Proctor and Livingston and Chauffeur Sloan. The other man in the car, Private Henry Smith, although badly hurt, probably will recover. All the soldiers were stationed at Texas City.

ANOTHER VIEW

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 24.—That prohibition may be the worst possible means of procuring temperance was a point made by Professor Sutherland Simpson of Cornell medical college. Professor Simpson said that drinking by parents may affect the offspring in a number of ways. "Prohibition would not remedy at all the hereditary influence," said Professor Simpson. He pointed out that the Jews are at present a remarkably sober people, but that the Scriptures are full of warnings against drink. "If we were as old as the Jews in the alcoholic sense," he said, "there would be no drink problem at all." He suggested that perhaps it will only be by a process of elimination that we ever attain permanent sobriety, and if that is so, prohibition is the worst possible means of procuring temperance.

BOOTH SPEAKS

New York, Nov. 24.—District Attorney Charles H. Whitman shared honors with General Bramwell Booth at a "welcome demonstration" to the commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army at Carnegie music hall. It was the occasion of the general's first formal speech to a New York audience, and over 3,000 people heard him. He devoted the major part of his address to lessons from the life of his father, General Ballington Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army.

MURDER CLAIM IS DISPROVED

Cleveland, O., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Vera Scott did not shoot and kill Marshall Field, Jr., eight years ago, as she claims from her cell in the Los Angeles jail. So declare Cleveland friends. They recall that Nov. 23, 1905, a license was issued in Cleveland for her marriage the following day to Homer T. Prosser, whom she subsequently divorced in Los Angeles and shot and killed on a train at Libby, Mont. in 1910. She was tried for murder and acquitted.

As "Mrs. Countess" and "Miss Clark" the woman first became known in Cleveland in 1905. She lived at hotels, soon formed a large circle of acquaintances and became popular in hotel life. She wore good clothes, many jewels, and always seemed well supplied with money, although she veiled in considerable secrecy the source of her income as well as her past life. She hinted she had been on the stage a short time.

Prosser met her in September, 1905, when she was occupying a suite of rooms at the Hotel Euclid. Soon after their marriage the couple moved to Lisbon, O., and later removed to Los Angeles, after Prosser had found a diary kept by his wife which convinced him she had been connected with extensive swindling operations in various cities.

This diary purported to give names and dates of the alleged swindles. Prosser was heartbroken. The removal to Los Angeles was to bury in a strange place all recollections of his wife's past. Their marital life had already settled down to a series of bitter and lasting quarrels, although Prosser continued to live with her. In Los Angeles Prosser built a home and went into the automobile business. Their quarrels continued, and in 1910 Mrs. Prosser sued for divorce, alleging extreme cruelty. After the divorce, they met on a transcontinental train and again quarreled. Near Libby, Mont., the woman shot and killed her former husband.

Friends say that the tragic death of Prosser caused his mother to die of a broken heart. The date of the issuance of the marriage license, Nov. 23, 1905, being the same day on which Marshall Field, Jr., was shot and killed by a woman in a Chicago club, friends say, it was impossible that she could have committed the deed, as she is now said to declare. The marriage followed the next day.

WOMAN'S STORY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—After confessing that she was the woman who shot and killed Reese Prosser, son of an Ohio millionaire coal man, on a train in Montana while going from Seattle to the east, Mrs. Vera Scott, the "woman of mystery," now in the city jail on a charge of extor-

LANCASTER TRAGEDY

Lancaster, O., Nov. 24.—Sylvester Abel, 10, was run over by an automobile driven by Paul Thimmis, 14, and died two hours later in a fire engine house into which he had been carried immediately after the accident.

DEAD AT 102

Xenia, O., Nov. 24.—Greene county's remarkable centenarian, Mrs. Sallie B. Bigger, died of gripe at the age of 102 years. She was born Oct. 30, 1811, in Butler county, near Hamilton, and was remarkable for the memory of events of a century which she retained at her advanced age. Her father was John Robinson, a captain in the war of 1812.

Don't Trust Calomel

Thousands Experience Bad After Effects From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects. Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him, years ago, towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 7 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. And their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity, when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, by following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts, or castor oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

HOW THAT TURKEY LASTS.

Roasted turkey on Thursday;
Friday eat it cold;
Saturday it's turkey hash
(Eat all that you can hold).
Sunday you will have croquettes—
Hal Monday you'll eat stew;
Tuesday they will surely get
Some turkey soup in you.
"Durn this turkey! How it lasts!"
Every one will say.
"Don't let's have another one
Till next Thanksgiving day!"
—Philadelphia North American.

THE TRUTH OUT AT LAST.

Old Mother Hubbard she went to the cupboard
To get the poor dog a bone.
But when she got there the cupboard was bare.
And so the poor dog had none.
The cause of this ominous vacuum was,
The turkey, neck, stern and breast.
Being eaten, the cook had made up her mind
To make hash and soup of the rest.

Some Eventful Thanksgivings.

Among the days set apart for thanksgiving which in reality have been days of national sorrow may be numbered that of 1875, when the entire country was mourning over the death of Vice President Henry Wilson, whose remains on the Thanksgiving day of that year were lying in state at Washington; that of 1878, when the German steamer Pomerania, from New York, crowded with passengers, sank off Folkestone, England, carrying to a watery grave fifty souls; that of 1881, the morning of which found the country grieving over the death of President Garfield; that of 1882, when another terrible loss at sea set the country mourning, the steamer Ocean Grove striking on the rocks of Cape Canso and proving a coffin ship to many on board; that of 1885, when the country mourned over the death of Vice President Thomas Hendricks, sleeping his last sleep at his Indianapolis home.

STRONG PLEA IS MADE FOR NEW FREIGHT RATES

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Arguing on behalf of the Central Freight Association lines, which takes in lines from Buffalo and Pittsburgh west to St. Louis, Frederic A. Delano, of Chicago, president of the Wabash Railway, presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission here today, the claims of three railways to the right to put into effect their tariffs increasing by five per cent, their rate on commodity and class freight. This increased tariff was filed with the commission on October 15, last, and was to have become effective Nov. last, but was suspended when the commission agreed to reopen the so-called 1910 case.

"In the 1910 case," said Mr. Delano, "The Commission reiterated a principle it has frequently applied in previous cases involving the reasonableness of competitive rates, which is tersely stated in the following sentence taken from the Spokane case: 'We must, therefore, in fixing rates, have regard not altogether to any one particular railroad, but to the whole situation, and must consider the effect of whatever order we make upon all these defendants.'"

"In applying this principle in the 1910 case, the Commission held that the Pennsylvania, New York Central and B. & O. Systems were for the purpose of measuring the reasonableness of rates, fairly typical of the railroads in Official Classification territory.

"The great network of railways covering the entire territory earned during the year ending June, 30, 1910," said Mr. Delano, "239 million dollars, during the year ending June 30, 1913, 275 million dollars, or a gross increase of about 36 million dollars; but in the former year the operating expenses and taxes were 182 million dollars, and in the latter year, 227 million dollars, or an increase in expenses of about 45 million dollars, resulting in a decrease in net revenues, after payment of taxes of over nine million dollars and in net corporate revenue of more than 16 million dollars.

Mr. Delano declared the figures for the first two months of the present fiscal year were still less encouraging.

"A five per cent increase in rates will not be adequate to meet the demands of the territory. The rates in that territory, both freight and passenger, are the lowest rates prevailing in the United States, and the interests of the people of that rapidly growing and developing section of the country, to say nothing of the carriers, require, in the near future, a readjustment of the rates, both freight and passenger, to a basis which will enable that territory to have good railroads and the people to have efficient and adequate service and to progress measurably with the other sections of the country.

SERIOUS QUARREL ABOUT FOOTBALL

Army Officers' Attack on Game Causes Trouble.

TOWNSLEY ASSAILS SPORT.

Commandant of United States Military Academy Says Gridiron Pastime "Serves No Good Purpose," and Surgeon General Stokes Now Indorses His Stand.

Colonel Clarence Townsley, commandant of the United States Military academy at West Point, assails football as a great menace to athletes and especially to the cadets of Uncle Sam. He suggests that the frequency of injuries to football players and the permanent character of many of such injuries make it a question of whether football is of sufficient value to the corps to warrant its continuance and the tremendous expenditure of time and money involved.

According to the colonel, of the sixty-one injuries due to football and treated at the hospital at West Point from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30 last year eleven were of a character liable to cause future trouble—that is, 18 per cent of the injuries were of a serious nature. Colonel Townsley says:

"Football certainly serves no good purpose in the physical development of training the corps, as it is voluntary and attracts to its squad only the few who are already physically strong, active and well developed. Its value, if it has any, lies mainly in the interest, entertainment and excitement it affords to the other members of the corps and the thousands who attend its principal contests and are willing to contribute to its support."

Stokes Also Opposes.
Surgeon General Stokes is on record as opposed to the playing of football at the naval academy. For several years he has protested against what he terms "spectacular athletics," and has produced statistics showing the unfavorable results due to "overtraining and overstraining, followed by periods of physical quietude exacted by service conditions."

In one of his reports he showed the heart, general poor health, obesity and tuberculosis, etc.

Surgeon General Stokes believes that this condition is brought about by overtraining and overstraining and has recommended that athletics be regulated to avoid such conditions, that endurance contests dependent upon brute force be eliminated and that a maximum effort be made to develop a symmetrical, normal physique, rather than a highly specialized machine.

Other army officers differ with Colonel Townsley and Surgeon General Stokes on the subject and a lively army quarrel is on, one side favoring abolishing the game at the military academy, the other desiring that it be continued.

THIS CARLISLE INDIAN END "NAILS 'EM IN THEIR TRACKS"

When you bring up the subject of the great Carlisle Indian football team one naturally thinks of Wellman, the left end, whose speedy running down the field under punts makes him feared by opposing teams. He is a sure, deadly tackler, a man rarely gaining a yard after the tenacious aborigine gets his clutches on him.

MICHIGAN ATHLETICS.

The University Appoints Committee to Handle Existing Problems.
For the purpose of treating either directly with the intercollegiate conference in regard to a possible arbitration of present difficulties or with the Michigan board of regents the board of control of the University of Michigan athletics at its annual session recently appointed a committee consisting of Professor Allen S. Whitney, Judge James O. Murfin of Detroit and Albert Fletcher, a student member of the board. The method of procedure is to be decided by the committee.

The action of the board came following a practical demand made by the Daily, the student publication, that definite action be taken immediately relative to the opening of official negotiations with the conference.

The instructions given the committee include an order to confer with the board of regents and are prompted by the belief of the board members that the regents by their action in sending resolutions to the regents of the conference universities have taken the matter of negotiations out of the hands of the board of control.

In a Gastronomic Way.
"Do you think Thanksgiving turkeys will go down?"
"I am sure of it."
"That's good. Do you think they will fall much?"
"I didn't say anything about their falling; I said they would go down."—Baltimore American.

A Dinner Jingle.
If no turkey dish you view
Possum's good enough for you!
If no possum's on the plate
Rabbits overrun the state.

Want Green Law Amended.

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Organized Cleveland employers appealed to Governor Cox to recommend an amendment to the Green workmen's compensation law at the special legislative session covering the point on which Federal Judge Day of Cleveland largely increased the scope of the legal meaning of the words "willful act" of the employer. Definition of the term "willful act" is wanted in the law so that employers will not be compelled to risk what a court may construe it to mean.

Lost Life in Flames.

Alliance, O., Nov. 24.—When he entered his burning home at Maximo, near here, to get clothing for his wife and two children who had jumped from a second-story window, Frank Manguary, 50, was burned to death. The man went coon hunting. When he returned he made a fire in the kitchen stove and went to sleep in a chair. When he awoke the house was in flames.

Woman Scalped.

Wauseon, O., Nov. 24.—While Mrs. Edward Forest was attempting to oil a gas engine at the Forest farm, four miles east of Wauseon, her hair caught on the governor of the engine. She was scalped and injured so badly that it is feared she may die. Mr. Forest is ill with a fever and requested that she go out and show his father where to oil the engine.

Woman Killed in Auto Crash.

Paston, Pa., Nov. 24.—Mrs. O. G. Schultz of Morristown, N. J., was instantly killed when an automobile driven by her husband collided with the car of G. C. Johnston of New York. Schultz's car overturned, pinning Mrs. Schultz under it and crushing her skull.

Wood Thrown From His Horse.

Washington, Nov. 24.—While riding with his daughter, Miss Louisa Wood, on the Fort Myer military reservation, Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, was thrown from his horse. He suffered no dangerous injury, however.

Large papers or leaves of books that have become soiled from much handling can be put into perfect condition if the loose dirt is first rubbed off with a piece of bread. Then cover the spots with blotting paper made damp with oxalic acid in solution. Lastly pass a hot iron over the blotting paper until it dries.

To remove deep set creases in papers or the leaves of a book put between two pieces of white blotting paper—on any unsized paper—slightly dampened, and press with a warm iron until the page is perfectly smooth.—New York Tribune

Dispose of Stocks at Low Prices. Cleveland, O., Nov. 24.—The police department, under orders from Mayor Baker, made no effort to close the saloons here Sunday. They followed this policy because the new license law did not go into effect until today. Many saloonkeepers who had been denied licenses disposed of their stocks at bargain prices. It is said that in some saloons liquors were auctioned off to the highest bidders.

Licensed Saloons Closed.

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Licensed saloons in nearly all cities were closed tight, but police in many cases winked at violations by saloonkeepers who were put out of business and who resorted to open selling to get rid of their stock, according to information from larger cities received by the state liquor licensing board and state officers of the Anti-Saloon league.

Automobile Overturns.

Bellefontaine, O., Nov. 24.—Louis Moore was perhaps fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding skidded and overturned while it was speeding along a country road. The three occupants of the car were thrown 50 feet, but Moore was the only one seriously injured.
